Seek Gains Slower, LBJ Cautions Labor

President Is Concerned Over Health Care Costs

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP)—President Johnson campaigned in Michigan today by bluntly telling organized labor on its own holiday that "it can't make all the gains it wants—all at once."

After volunteering this anti-inflation warning in Detroit, citadel of the United Auto Workers Union, Johnson flew to Battle Creek to help mark the 100th birthday of a sanitarium founded by the late cereal king, Will Keith Kellogg.

In remarks prepared for his Battle Creek audience, Johnson touched on another aspect of inflation — the rising price of health care.

He said: "Government does share a lively concern for the progress of medical care and the cost of medical care. And so long as I am in office, we will make every effort to ensure the greatest possible progress at the lowest cost to the individual."

Returns are not yet in from a federal study of medical costs which Johnson recently ordered.

The President's talk about "responsibility" in medical science did not match for directness, however, his words to the organized workingman.

Johnson, starting his first admittedly political trip of the campaign season, coupled a blunt call for labor union restraint in wage demands with these promises:

He pledged he would not forget the goal of a guaranteed annual wage.

He promised to fight in 1967 for repeal of Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act, which authorizes states to outlaw the union shop contracts that require all eligible employees to join the union.

He asserted in a key passage: "Labor wants — and labor deserves — a growth of real wages, not just money wages. It wants wage gains that will offset some of the recent rise in the cost of living. But it can't make all the gains it wants — all at once — no matter how big wage increases become. For in the long run, even the strongest union, with the power to negotiate massive wage increases, cannot hold its own if it contributes to an inflation that wrecks prosperity."

As for businessmen, Johnson said the manufacturer knows "that the abundant profits he earns from keeping his plant fully used can be destroyed by shortsighted attempts to get a little higher profit through higher prices."

The President, his travel paid for by the Democratic party, was visiting Detroit and Battle Creek, Mich., Dayton and Lancaster, Ohio. Freshman Democrats in the House face Republi-

Sausalito became the capitol of creativity in Marin over the long weekend. It also made its mark as the center of one of the worst traffic snarls on record during the Sausalito Art Festival.

As visitors marvelled at the colorful display of oils, water colors and sculpture, traffic officers mopped their brows over the traffic. (See review on page 14.)

"It was the worst traffic jam-up I've ever seen here," said Sgt. Stanley C. Kelly, a 23-year veteran of the Sausalito force. "We had to call in a few extra men to direct traffic. Cars were lined up to the Marin City underpass, waiting to get into town."

There were also reports of traffic backed up to Highway 101 at the southern entrance to Sausalito.

Residents living in hillside homes six to eight blocks from the scene of the show, a city parking lot on Bridgeway, reprted they could not find a place to park their own cars.

The festival, which opened Saturday, was an all-Marin show, under new rules and new management. Screening was more strict and display arrangements were redesigned.

The show was put on by a committee which took over from the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce which has staged the show in the past.

Today's crowd was expected to boost total attendance to 10,000. Proceeds from the gate — 50 cents each—are expected to pay back advances from the chamber for this year's show, set up a fund for next year's show and finance other art activities during the year.

Contributions totaling $750 for purchase awards may be returned to Sausalito merchants, because judges failed to reach and decision on purchases. The paintings were to start a civic collection.

Judges were Ronald Caya, director of the Walnut Creek Art Center; John Fitzgibbon, art critic for KPFA educational radio station in Berkeley, and H. J. Weeks, director of the Richmond Art Center.

LAFAYETTE (UPI)—A crippled victim of Parkinson's disease, who had been unable to walk without help, rescued a drowning boy yesterday by walking 44 feet around a swimming pool.

The boy fell into the pool while other members of a swimming party were dressing.

LICKING THE PROBLEM

Firm Uses Trading Stamps To Cut Absenteeism Rate

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Officials of an Atlanta manufacturing company were trying to solve the problem of tardy employees when they finally licked it — with trading stamps.

Now, they give away about 100,000 stamps a week as bonuses—to the wives of workmen who put in a full 40 hours.

"It's cut our absentee rate about 8 per cent," said B. W. Roberts, production manager of Southern Iron and Equipment Co., a maker of railroad cars.

"We think it's an incentive for a wife to see that her husband gets to work on time. I guess we're soliciting a little help at home."

Roberts said the stamps amount to about $1.50 a week in extra pay, but the workmen are careful to pick them up on Fridays.

"Several employees, when they failed to get their stamps, have come by the office," said Roberts. "They say, 'Let me have my stamps. I can't go home without them.'"

Although the men take some kidding, their wives think the

Passenger Critically Hurt In Crash

William David France, 20, of 69 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, was critically injured at 3 a.m. today when the driver of the car in which he was a passenger, fell asleep on Highway 101, two miles east of Camarillo, Ventura County.

The Ventura County office of the California Highway Patrol said that Stephen Marigan, 18, of San Francisco, told officers he fell asleep.

The westbound car drifted into the center island, struck a palm tree and rolled completely over.

France, a circulation manager for the Independent-Journal, suffered facial cuts, a broken leg and possible internal injuries. He was taken to Conejo Valley Hospital in Thousand Oaks where he is expected to stay four or five days before transfer to a hospital near home.

He is the son of Jess J. France Jr. of Sleepy Hollow, once a candidate for supervisor and the former Mrs. France, now Mrs. Hugo Rinaldi of San Rafael. Both parents rushed to Ventura County early today.

China Says U.S. Sunk Red Boats

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Red China charged today U.S. planes attacked and sank a small Chinese vessel, damaged another and killed nine crewmen in the Gulf of Tonkin in a "provocative and grave incident."

Radio Peking said the attack was made a week ago. Spokesman for the U.S. Military Command and and the 7th Fleet refused comment except to refer to a Navy communique of that day.

PROVOCATIVE STEP

The communique said carrier-based planes sank a North Vietnamese patrol boat and possibly damaged two others in the Gulf about 70 miles southeast of Haiphong. Later a briefing officer said another Vietnamese boat was sunk.

In Washington a Pentagon spokesman declined comment on the Red Chinese broadcast.

Radio Peking said the Chinese vessels were sailing on a normal course when attacked.

"This is one of a repeated series of provocative war steps committed by the American imperialists," it added.

In the air war, the U.S. Command announced that North Vietnamese ground fire shot down three U.S. fighter-bombers in raids near Hanoi yesterday and another plane was knocked down further south today.

ONE RESCUED

Only one of the five pilots was rescued, a spokesman said. The aircraft losses brought the number of U.S. planes reported shot down over North Viet Nam to 361.

While American jets pounded oil depots, missile sites and other targets in the North Vietnamese heartland, government troops in South Viet Nam reported wiping out nearly half of a 600-man elite Communist force in a three-day operation in the sweltering swamplands of the Mekong Delta 120 miles southwest of Saigon. The fighting broke a 10-day lull in ground action in the south.

FOUR MISSING

A U.S. twin-engine Army Caribou transport plane crashed into a Vietnamese village yesterday shortly after taking off from Dong Tra airfield about 250 miles northeast of Saigon. Four villagers were killed and 20 to 25 other persons were injured, including three U.S. crewmen.

Of the three planes lost yesterday, one was an Rir Force F-4C Phantom with a two-man crew which went down 40 miles northwest of Hanoi. The others were single-seat Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs. One went down 10 miles north of Hanoi, the other 20 miles northwest.

All four pilots were listed as

American Aide Killed In Brazil

RECIFE, Brazil (AP) — Police today began questioning a second man in the slaying of an American foreign-aid official.

Eduardo Nogueira, detective investigating the murder of Charles Foster Lee, 60, of Takoma Park, Md., said Jose Pereira, 22, had been arrested Sunday in one of the city's suburbs.

Nogueira said Pereira had not resisted arrest and had denied any part in the killing. He has not been charged.

Police identified Pereira as a friend of building watchman Luis Cardosa da Silva who, they said, confessed Saturday the murder of Lee.

Angry Whites Bayoneted In Cicero March

CICERO, Ill. (UPI) — National Guard troops fired live ammunition over the heads of a frenzied mob and slashed at least six screaming whites with bayonets yesterday to protect 200 marchers who dared parade the streets of this all-white Chicago suburb under the banner of "black power."

"We had to do that, baby," declared Robert Lucas, the Congress of Racial Equality militant who stole the civil rights thunder from Dr. Martin Luther King by leading the tumultuous march.

Only the presence of 2,300 National Guardsmen—armed to the teeth and under orders to shoot to kill—prevented the two hour march from turning into a major and probably bloody riot.

As it was, the march ended with a pitched battle between Negro marchers and infuriated whites. State troopers were knocked to the ground, guardsmen screamed and jabbed their bayoneted rifles at the mob and bricks, bottles and rocks filled the air.

Maj. Gen. Francis P. Kane, who commanded the troops, said his men wounded at least six civilians with bayonet thrusts. Several other persons were injured, including a young Negro who marched with blood streaming from his head. He

Bishop Pike Says Farewell

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Grace Cathedral was packed yesterday as Bishop James A. Pike preached his last sermon as head of the Episcopal Diocese of California.

From the pulpit, he remarked:

"It has never been like this at Christmas or Easter. I think I should resigned once a month."

Pike

More than 3,000 people turned out to hear Bishop Pike, who resigned to become a staff member of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara.

Bishop Pike, in his sermon, praised "the victory of the valiant farm workers in their dispute with the Di Giorgio Corporation," and then criticized some San Joaquin Valley churches for their lack of a stand in the issue.

The bishop went on:

"When we are silent on the side of entrenched greed, and righteousness wins anyway, it is embarrassing."

Turning to the relationship between society and the church, Pike said:

"There is not one single thing that is not altered down through history—with the church usually gasping to catch up."

The 53-year-old bishop was elected to his post Feb. 4, 1958.

Morocco, France Crisis Looms

PARIS (UPI)—A new crisis in relations between France and Morocco loomed today with the trial of 13 persons alleged to have masterminded the kidnaping—and presumed murder of exiled Moroccan leftist leader Mehdi Ben Barka.

Barka

Seven of the key defendants, including Morocco's Interior Minister Gen. Mohamed Oufkir and his deputy, Col. Ahmed Dlimi, were missing from the dock. They were being tried in absentia for the mysterious abduction of Ben Barka from a Paris street last October.

Morocco has made it clear it intends to officially ignore the proceedings, but observers here feared the possible sentencing in absentia of Oufkir may lead to a complete rupture in Moroccan-French relations.

Both governments have already withdrawn ambassadors following France's blunt charge that the Moroccan police chief flew to Paris to organize the kidnaping of the exiled Ben Barka.

He was taken to the Sonoma County Hospital in Santa Rosa.

Defense Chief May Be China Guard Leader

TOKYO (UPI) —Defense Chief Lin Piao, the No. 2 man in Communist China, has taken over the leadership of the extremist Red Guards and their campaign to rid mainland China of all Western influences, reports from Peking indicated today.

In a broadcast monitored here, Peking Radio yesterday quoted a teen-age Red Guard who said Lin had agreed to become leader of the Red Guards and accepted the "No. 1 Red Guard armband."

IN FULL COMMAND

Leadership of the Red Guards would place Lin, widely regarded as hair apparent to Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung, in full command of the feverish "cultural revolution"—a catchall phrase meaning everything from political purges to attacks on barber shops for cutting Western hair styles.

Mao has given the Red Guards his personal blessing and made them the vanguard of his "revolution." United with the Chinese army under Lin, the Red Guard would be the most powerful deterrent to Mao's political foes.

SOME OPPOSITION

However, according to Japanese correspondents in Peking, the Red Guards apparently have run into opposition from rival groups in some parts of China. There were reports of violence between Peking youths and rural anti-Mao groups.

The official Peking People's Daily, in an apparent reference to this opposition, warned in an editorial today that Mao and Lin were determined to "crush the people's enemies at all cost."

While it urged the "cultural revolution" be carried out with non-violence whenever possible, the editorial made it clear "in case our enemies dare to use weapons to sabotage this cultural revolution, we can certainly silence them. The country's military might is ours, real in our hands."

Deadly Rivalry

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—Two men were killed in two shootings in Kingston during the weekend. Authorities said Linval Russell, 26, was the fourth person to die in a political rivalry in the capital's West End since July. The second weekend killing, of security guard Ivan Rowe, 19, during a robbery, was not connected with the West End shootings, police said.

NATO Cutback View Assailed By Morton

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thruston B. Morton assailed the Senate Democratic leadership today for "embarrassing" President Johnson by proposing a reduction in the U.S. troop commitment to Europe.

Morton, who heads the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, took the lead in an attempt to force hearings on a resolution offered by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Democratic Policy Committee members to put the Senate on record favoring a cutback in North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces.

NOT THE TIME

"The proposal at this time is untimely and embarrassing to the commander in chief," Morton said in an interview. "I am upset and concerned that the Democratic leadership is so little disciplined that it would come out with a proposal like this.

"If we do this — and we won't — Europe would consider NATO as going down the drain and the rest of the world would think we were concerned only with Viet Nam," the Kentucky Republican said.

An Associated Press canvass disclosed that of 65 senators willing to take a public position at this time, 48 favor early withdrawal of some American troops from Europe while 17 oppose the action as likely to have far-reaching adverse consequences.

Morton and 11 other Republicans, along with five Democrats, sided with President Johnson, who has made it clear that he does not want Senate action on the issue while delicate efforts are under way to revamp NATO after France's troop withdrawal.

Thirty-two Democrats and six Republicans say they think the time has come for Western Europe to bear a large share of the burden of its defense.

Among them Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.; Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa.; John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., and Vance Hartke, D-Ind., said they believe any withdrawals ought to be geared to a reduction in Soviet troop strength in Eastern Europe.

DIRKSEN OPPOSITION

Mansfield says he intends to call the resolution before the Senate without resorting to committee hearings. But he ran into unexpected opposition from Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

Dirksen said too much was involved for any "shot in the dark" action. He called for hearings to explore the implications of the action.

His stand was supported by Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee.

World Tribune To Start Monday

NEW YORK (AP) — The World Journal Tribune Inc. has reached contract settlements with the last of its craft unions and plans to start publishing its afternoon newspaper next Monday.

The corporation will publish a Sunday newspaper also.

Editor Frank Conniff said Sunday the World Journal Tribune will have a press run of about 900,000 copies at the start of the six-day-a-week paper.

Bomb Blasts Offices Of Daily Worker

NEW YORK (AP) — A crude bomb exploded yesterday at the offices of the Communist newspaper, the Worker, wrecking a basement room and shattering windows, including a number of stained-glass ones in a church across the street.

There were no injuries. Police said the pipe bomb, 10 to 12 inches long and probably filled with gunpowder, was detonated in the basement areaway of the three-story brownstone building.

The church damaged was the Serbian Orthodox Cathedral of St. Sava.

A party spokesman blamed he blest on the "fanatical, fascist ultra-right ... now inflamed by the Johnson war policy."

Henry Winston, national chairman of the Communist party, said the FBI should have known who planted the bomb because it "has long had the building under every known form of surveillance for 24 hours a day."

An FBI spokesman said the matter "is under police jurisdiction."

Additional Koreans

NHA TRANG, South Viet Nam (UPI) — A fresh regiment of 5,500 South Korean troops landed here today, swelling the number of Korean fighting men in South Viet Nam to 35,000.

De Gaulle Warns U.S. On Colonies

NOUMEA, New Caledonia (UPI) —President Charles de Gaulle indicated today France would not allow any American or foreign mining companies to exploit mineral rich French islands in the Pacific.

He told the territorial assembly that "as much as possible" had to be extracted and that "French national interests came first."

It was the first time since his arrival here Friday on the fourth lap of a world tour that De Gaulle made a direct reference to nickel mining, the main resource of this French Pacific colony.

In Washington, a high-ranking State Department official, rejecting French demands that the United States set a timetable for pulling out of Viet Nam, says it is up to the Communists "to make the first move."

William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, said yesterday, "it is up to them (the Reds) to make the first move because it is their aggression and interference" with the affairs of South Viet Nam that triggered the war.

COMMENT ON DE GAULLE

Bundy made the statement during a television interview when asked to comment on French President Charles de Gaulle's speech at Phnom Penh, Cambodia, last week. De Gaulle called on the United States to set a timetable for withdrawing its troops from South Viet Nam to hasten peace.

Bundy said the United States agreed with De Gaulle that no military solution to the war was possible. But, he added, it is Communist North Viet Nam, not the United States, that is escalating the war, especially by infiltrating troops and supplies into South Viet Nam.

"We have no choice but to meet that," Bundy said.

He said that U.S. bombing raids on the North were "measured" and could not be designated as an escalation of the conflict. "We are very definitely reducing the rates of infiltration" in this manner, he added.

Governments Join To Buy Redwoods

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Private, state and federal agencies have combined to buy another seven miles of redwood trees along the "Avenue of the Giants" in Humboldt County near U.S. 101.

Gov. Brown reported Saturday that the trees cost $3 million, divided evenly among funds allocated by the California Legislature, U.S. Interior Department and private Save-the-Redwoods League.

The road now runs 35 miles through stands of towering trees and is a slow-speed, scenic alternative to nearby high-speed U.S. 101 heading north near the Oregon-California border.

The trees added to the route have belonged to the Pacific Lumber Co.

Mickey Rooney Plans To Marry

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Mickey Rooney said Saturday he'll soon take his sixth wife.

Rooney's previous wives were Ava Gardner, Betty Jane Rase, Martha Vickers, Elaine Mahnken and the late Barbara Thompson.

LONDON (AP) — One of Britain's leading art experts says a long-lost painting by Peter Paul Rubens, purchased by the operator of a frame shop in 1933 for $1.40, should bring a substantial amount when sold at auction Nov. 25. Michael Jaffe, of King's College, Cambridge, said efforts are under way to buy it for the nation. The painting, "The Judgment of Paris," is described as one of the Flemish painter's finest works.

LT. COL. EVERETT E. SLOOP
New Judge Advocate

Ex-Marine Assigned To Hamilton

Lt. Col. Everett E. Sloop, who saw action on Iwo Jima as a Marine during World War II, has been assigned as the judge advocate for Hamilton Air Force Base.

He replaced Lt. Col. Thomas L. White, judge advocate at Hamilton since 1964, who retired Thursday to enter private practice in Las Vegas, Nev.

Prior to coming to Hamilton, Sloop was chief of the military justice division at 13th Air Force headquarters, Clark Air Base, the Philippines.

After World War II, Sloop, a native of Oklahoma, returned to civilian life where he received his law degree from the University of Oklahoma. In 1950 when he had a reserve commission, he was recalled to active duty.

He has held judge advocate positions in Kansas, the Pentagon, Hawaii and the Air Force Air Reserve Records Center, Denver, Colo.

He is married to the former Dorothy West of Miami, Okla. They have a son, Stephen, and a daughter, Gail.

Richmond Pilot Dies In Crash

LIVERMORE (AP) — A wing fell from a homemade airplane yesterday causing the death of the pilot, Robert B. Farrell, 27, of Richmond.

Witnesses said Farrell was performing acrobatics with the small experimental plane before it crashed just minutes after he took off from Livermore Municipal Airport.

The plane, which weighed less than 1,000 pounds, was owned by T. R. Ballard of Walnut Creek.

Bobby, Tiger Win Reign Over Cats

Bobby, a Himalayan-pattern longhair from San Mateo, and Tiger, a brown tabby shorthair from San Anselmo, reigned as king and queen of the cats yesterday at the Marin County Cat Fanciers' Third Annual Household Pet show at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

They received cat-size crowns as the best male and best female cats before an audience of nearly 1000 at the event which also included a show for purebred kittens.

The king and queen are owned by Robin Bossingham and Mrs. Maxine C. Perkins, respectively.

Judge Ronald Lewis of Cupertino also awarded crowns to four other royal cats:

Duke (second best male cat) — Mr. Bob, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Faulkner of San Rafael; Duchess (second best female)—Jennie, owned by Ingrid Price of Fairfax; Prince (best male kitten)—Herbie, owned by Hope Camara of Novato; Princess (best female kitten) — Cleopatra, owned by Cathy Doner of San Rafael.

Every cat entered in the household pet competition received a ribbon for its most unusual individual feature, and other prizes were given in color division competition.

In the three divisions of pure- respectively, by Mrs. Louise Travasso of San Jose, Mrs. Robert Weston of Pleasant Hill and Mrs. William Quiner of Hayward, the best kittens in show were:

Jilted Marine Takes It Hard, Shoots Himself

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A jilted Marine locked himself in a downtown hotel and shot and killed himself with a .22-caliber pistol yesterday. Police said Pvt. Teddy D. Boyd, 23, Tipp City, Ohio, left a note indicating he was despondent over seeing his girl-friend with another man.

The note read in part:

"Nothing is worth living for now that she doesn't want me. I'm cheating the Marine Corps by doing this, but I'd rather be dead than to see them together. I can't live without her."

Officers said Boyd, who was stationed at Camp Pendleton, Calif., also wrote that he "had to get drunk before I had the nerve to pull the trigger."

The telephone in Boyd's hotel room (Baltimore) was knocked off the receiver by the fatal bullet. A clerk investigated and found the body.

World War II Plane Wreck To Be Studied

FURNACE CREEK (UPI)—An investigation team will fly by helicopter into a rugged area of Death Valley tomorrow to examine the wreckage of a World War II Navy fighter believed to have crashed more then 20 years ago.

The shattered aircraft, a Tiger Cat, was discovered last week by Gordon Ritzman, 32, Balboa, and Cliff McAdams, 36, San Gabriel, during a 136-mile hike through the searing national monument.

Ritzman and McAdams, travel editor of the San Gabriel Valley Tribune, returned to the scene yesterday. They said the wreckage was strewn on a rocky hillside about 35 miles southeast of here near Deadman Pass at an elevation of 3,263 feet.

The area is east of the lower end of Death Valley, northeast of Saratoga Springs and west of Shoshone.

McAdams said the plane appeared to have slammed into the hillside about 50 feet below the peak. Its machine gun, which bore a 1942 plate, was intact, he said, and contained live ammunition.

McAdams said there were no signs of any skeletal remains.

Hand-raising as a formal greeting probably originated with the cavemen, who wanted to prove to one another that they carried no weapons, according to the National Geographic Society.

Ex-Convict Held In Knife, Shooting Slaying Of Four

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — An ex-convict was held on a murder charge today after a killer shot and knifed four persons to death, set fire to their apartments but was eluded by a fifth would-be victim.

Officers said a soldier from El Paso's Fort Bliss locked himself in a bathroom during the violence yesterday. The killer was attempting to batter down the bathroom door with a rifle, police said, but fled when he heard sirens of fire engines which were rushing to the apartments.

Leopoldo Morales Jr., 26, El Paso, was arraigned later in the day on a charge of murdering one of the victims, Army Pvt. Michael Artz, 23, of Fresno.

Artz and his wife Pamela, 18, were shot to death with a 22-caliber rifle. Earlier, Albert H. Mearse, 72, and his wife, Alby Mae, 74, died in an adjoining apartment when their throats were cut with a butcher knife.

Officers refused to identify the survivor, who had been sleeping in a closet in the Artz apartment.

The soldier was quoted by police as saying that by being in the closet he apparently escaped the killer's notice long enough to get into the bathroom. He was quoted as saying the killer then started beating on the door and screaming, "Come on out of there, boy. I know you're in there."

Police said Morales, arraigned before Justice of the Peace Charles Windberg Jr., had served an 18-month term in a federal prison for violation of the Mann Act, which prohibits interstate transportation of women for immoral purposes.

CICERO

was hit by a thrown object.

Cicero authorities said at least 30 persons were arrested.

"I'm very happy about this march," Lucas said later. "We did such a good job in Cicero. We just might march again. We just might march all over Chicago."

The march into Cicero—which King had threatened to undertake but canceled when he won promises from Chicago civic leaders on open housing — marked the first time this summer that demonstrators openly fought back against the physical and vocal abuse of hecklers.

Bricks, bottles, cherry bombs and stones rained down upon the marchers as they swept eight abreast down the street. In many cases, the marchers stopped to yell back at whites and pitched the debris back at their tormentors.

Several young Negroes—some of whom wore Maltese crosses draped around their necks—had to be restrained from charging into the white mob.

The marchers' objective was a filling station where earlier this summer four white youths beat to death Jeremy Huey, a chess-playing Negro boy who had gone to Cicero to look for work.

Wilson was addressing the annual conference of the Trades Union Congress whose 170 member-unions form the industrial wing of Britain's powerful labor movement. They provide the campaign funds for Wilson's ruling Labor party.

SO COOL IT

Troubled Inn Buried In A Swinging Wake

By PAT PERRY

It was a great wake.

A with-it wake, and Tiburon may never see its like again.

Last night hundreds of the Prince Charles Inn's regulars joined innkeeper Eric Hodgman in celebrating the demise of his trouble-beset pub. Crammed wall-to-wall, spilling out the doors, the funeral party got going early to the frenetic accompaniment of The Only Alternative and His Other Possibilities.

There wasn't room to dance, but almost everyone did. A barefoot blue-jeaned fellow with a red flower in his hair partnered a redhead in white minishorts. Dozens of bearded, booted men with shoulder-length hair (looking for all the world like mod-apostles) danced with booted, long-haired girls as The Only Alternatives and his mates gave forth with their great Middle East sound.

Hodgman, beads round his neck, peacock-blue corduroy shirt open to the waist, elbowed his way around the tavern, bidding farewell to the customers. The blond waitress, who wore a black band around her head Indian-style, quit serving and joined the dancing.

Tiburon police — not for the first time but possibly the last—prowled the street outside.

Bartenders filling pitchers of beer beneath the sign saying: "We pride ourselves on being the world's worst bartenders—so cool it" ran out of draught beer, then canned beer. By midnight, there were only a few bottles of imported beer left . . . but still the pub was packed and vibrating to the clamorous music.

"I tried," said Hodgman, "to bring love to Tiburon, I'll open again, I'll keep fighting till I drop. But not in Tiburon."

LABOR

can opposition in the November election in all these communities.

While in effect lecturing his Detroit audience, assembled under sponsorship of the AFL-CIO, Johnson sought to blunt labor's unhappiness over the administration's defeats in efforts to repeal Section 14B.

"One piece of unfinished business," he said, "is to repeal a law that gives no one the right to work, that weakens union responsibility without strengthening individual liberty, that causes endless and useless dispute in our country."

As in 1964 and 1965 and 1966, he said, repeal action will be "on my list of major recommendations to the next Congress."

Regarding a guaranteed annual wage, Johnson said:

"We know that the America we dream of mush be an America where every citizen can earn a guaranteed annual income sufficient to meet his basic needs. I pledge you that we will not forget this goal."

Police Stop Teen Rumble

There was a rumble brewing at the Eat and Run Drive-In in Kentfield at 12:47 a.m. Saturday, but it was broken up by sheriff's deputies and officers from Larkspur, Ross and Corte Madera before it got started.

The fight never occurred, but the two boys, one a 17-year old from Ross and the other a 16-year-old from Larkspur were cited for disturbing the peace and violating the curfew, deputies said.

IN MEMORIAM

FERRARI, MARIO—In loving Memory of MARIO FERRARI who passed away one year ago today.

With skillful hands good deeds were done,
With cheery smile new friends were won.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

To Read Or Not To Read Is Still The Question In Kindergarten

As California schools reopen after the summer vacation, among the millions of youngsters starting classes will be many thousands who have just passed their fifth birthdays or will pass them by December.

MOST OF THESE will be accompanied, on opening day, by fond mothers. Some will cry when their mothers leave them in the care of the teacher. Some of the mothers will cry, too.

These children will be starting kindergarten. State law makes no requirement that elementary schools offer kindergarten, but most of them do, except in the small, rural districts. And wherever kindergarten is offered, virtually all the children of the prescribed age attend. It is the thing to do.

In most of the kindergartens, the children will find a curriculum based on that introduced by the German educator Friedrich Froebel, who established a school for very young children in Blankenburg, Thuringia (now in East Germany) in 1837, and gave it the German name of "children's garden" which survives.

THIS CONSISTS of activities such as dancing and singing, group games, clay modeling, finger painting, manipulation of various shapes, building with blocks.

In some kindergartens — but not in many—the children may be taught to read.

Educators are sharply split over whether children should be allowed to read at such an early age as five years. From the advent of so-called progressive education in the 1920s down to the last few years, the American education world clung almost unanimously to a theory that there is a "reading readiness" age, and that if a child is taught to read (or even permitted to learn) before that age, it may do him some sort of irreparable harm later on. The usual "reading readiness" age was regarded as six years — probably because children had been learning to read at six for some time, so it was easily demonstrable that they could do so.

RECENTLY, more and more educators have tossed aside the "reading readiness" formulas and held that a child should be taught to read as soon as he shows interest in the printed word. But the debate still rages.

For instance, two education professors were presented in opposing views on "should the very young be taught to read?" in the National Education Assn.'s NEA Journal not so long ago.

Plumping for offering the children a chance to read in kindergarten, Dolores Durkin, associate professor of education at Teachers College of Columbia University, wrote:

"I suggest . . .that the most efficient and meaningful way to assess a child's readiness for learning to read is to give him the opportunity to learn. How he responds to these opportunities and what he takes from them will then indicate readiness or a lack of it."

TAKING THE opposite view, William D. Sheldon, director of the Syracuse University reading center, retorted:

"On the question of the hygiene of vision alone, to say nothing of the effect of symbolic confusion, I would vote for a delay in initial reading instruction and a reduction in the time spent in reading on the part of even 6-year-old children."

New Jersey's State Department of Education prescribes that kindergarten classes "shall be conducted to meet the developmental needs of kindergarten pupils with no formal instruction in reading, writing, number work or other similar subjects." There is no such ban in California, but the number of kindergartens offering any instruction in reading is small.

PERHAPS the problem would be simplified by calling the school for 5-year-olds something other than kindergarten. For Froebel by no means introduced the idea of sending children to school at that age. His contribution was the curriculum of fun and games.

Swedish scientist Peter Kalm wrote this on visiting the English colonies in North America in 1750 (32 years before Froebel was born):

"The education of children among the English in this country was well established in many ways. . . . When a child was over three it was sent to school both morning and afternoon. They probably realized that such little children would not be able to read much, but they would be rid of them at home and thought it would protect them from any misbehavior."

TODAY'S California kindergartners, like the 3-year-olds of two centuries ago, may "not be able to read much." But some, perhaps?

Unions Hear Extremist Danger

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Organized labor has an unfinished job on behalf of the poor, the aged, the sick, minorities and the unemployed, Thomas L. Pitts of the California Labor Federation, AFL-CIO, said yesterday.

However, Pitts warned in a special Labor Day message, "In our own state this year, extremist forces are now . . . attempting to turn back the clock by wiping away the many gains we in organized labor have worked so hard to achieve over the years."

The labor official called for "courage and tenacity" and urged working people "to stand together in spirit with those who in earlier days stood very much alone."

China Viewed Against War

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Austrian journalist who recently visited Red China said in an interview published today he found the Chinese unwilling to risk involvement in a war with the United States.

Hugo Portisch, editor of the Vienna Kurier, asked if he thought the Chinese would start anything that might involve them in a war with the United States, said:

"I don't think they can even dream of starting such a war. They want to go on supporting what they call 'wars of liberation,' but they are terribly afraid of getting involved themselves, at least today."

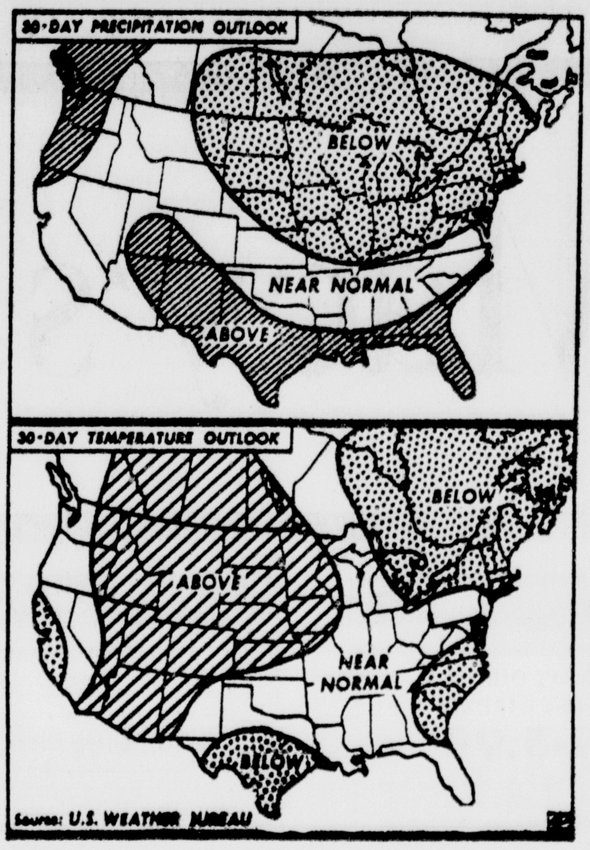
Aqueduct Broken

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Delivery of water through the South Bay Aqueduct to the Alameda and Santa Clara water conservation districts was to be resumed today, the state department of water resources announced today. Service was interrupted because of damage to the concrete-lined canal in the Livermore valley south of Patterson reservoir last week.

Balmer To Manage Bay Area Crusade

Mill Valley City Mgr. Bert Balmer has been named countywide city government chairman of the 1966 United Bay Area Crusade.

Balmer will lead the other 10 county chief administrators in the collection campaign among their own employees. Marin auditor-controller Michael Mitchell is Crusade chairman for all government divisions in the county.



FALL MAY BE EARLY FOR BAY AREA

The U.S. Weather Bureau's 30-day forecast map for the San Francisco Bay Area for this month indicates below normal temperatures, but only normal precipitation for the season—which probably means not much rainfall.

Scientist Studies How Older Persons Learn

By SCIENCE SERVICE

DURHAM, N. C. — Part of what has been termed a "learning deficit" in elderly people is not reduced capacity to learn but slowness to respond under pressure, says a Duke University researcher.

Older people are more anxious than the young when faced with the necessity of learning something, said Dr. Carl Eisdorfer, assistant director of the Duke Center for the Study of Aging and Human Development. Their anxiety inhibits their speed of performance. But when the pressure is off, said Dr. Eisdorfer, the elderly learn as well as younger people, at least the ones in his study did.

The Duke scientist compared the speed of word recall in two groups, divided by age. He flashed words on a screen and then gave his subjects four seconds to recall a particular word. The young, as expected, scored higher than the old.

But when the older subjects were given 10 seconds to respond, their scores went up dramatically, he said, making their answers almost as accurate as those of the younger group. The initial low scores were caused not by mistakes but by a failure to respond at all. The test included some 70 people in all.

While he tested the two groups, Dr. Eisdorfer also measured physiological responses and discovered a correlation between the test situation and body function.

High performance in learning takes a greater physiological toll on older people, said Dr. Eisdorfer. This leads to an emotional defensiveness by which they simply refuse to perform.

If the autonomic nervous system which controls physiological stress can be blocked, Dr. Eisdorfer believes the "learning deficit" may be greatly reduced in elderly people. He is now engaged in a study with the drug, Enderol, which blocks autonomic functions without tranquilizing the patient.

Duke Attending Economy Panel

TOKYO (AP) — Archduke Otto of Hapsburg sat today among an international gathering of economists meeting in Tokyo to discuss economic growth in a free society.

The archduke, son of the last Austrian emperor and an exile from his country since 1919, arrived in Tokyo last night with his wife, Regina.

Some 60 scholars from West Germany, Britain, Italy, the United States, France and India are attending the session.

Lawsuit Asks $500,000 For Crash Death

An additional half a millon dollar suit for the alleged wrongful traffic death of a Vallejo woman was filed Friday in Marin Superior Court.

Plaintiffs Roy E. Smith and his son, James, aged 3, charge the Ford Motor Co. and the Black Seat Belt Co. with installing a faulty seat belt in the family car.

Mrs. Arlene F. Smith, 22, mother and wife of the plaintiffs, was killed Jan. 4 when the car she was driving skidded on wet pavement on Black Point Cutoff near Petaluma River Bridge and was in collision with a vehicle driven by Alton B. Bench, Novato.

The suit charges Mrs. Smith's seat belt broke, causing her to hit the car's ceiling, and that she died of resulting head injuries.

On May 17, the plaintiffs filed a $500,000 suit in Mrs. Smith's death, naming as defendants the State of California, John H. Brandon Tire Supply Co. of San Rafael, and B. F. Goodrich Rubber Co. That suit also asks $250,000 for head and nervous system injuries to James Smith, who was a passenger in the Smith car.

Troopers Reach Irish Shore

GALWAY, Ireland (UPI) — Two British paratroopers who rowed 3,000 miles across the Atlantic Ocean from Boston had one regret today, being towed the last few hundred yards.

Capt. John Ridgeway, 27, and Sgt. Charles Blyth, 26, described their journey as "an interesting way of spending the summer." It took them 92 days to make the crossing in their 22-foot open boat.

Their historic voyage that started in Massachusetts, ended Saturday night when their rowboat was spotted by the three lighthouse keepers in the Aran Isles, off the Galway coast.

Alto-Richardson Opposes Fire Plan

Creation of a county-wide fire services district was unanimously opposed Friday night by the Alto-Richardson Bay Fire District board.

Board members feared the county district, proposed by the Marin City-County Services Committee and recommended to the board of supervisors by County Administrator Alan Bruce, would result in loss of their investment by the present district's taxpayers and the added cost of providing protection to other areas of the county.

"The Mercedes-Benz 230S is over-engineered," say the critics. A welcome excess, say the facts.

The Mercedes-Benz 230S poses the question—is there such a thing as too much car for the money? Clip coupon for answers.

Up front in the 230S is an exotic, single overhead camshaft Six. Underneath, one of the most sophisticated suspension designs outside the racing world. And the 230S doesn't really need its 9.9-inch front disc brakes. Sheer engineering extravagance—or something better? Read on, then decide for yourself.

SOME critics claim that the Mercedes-Benz 230S uses unique technical features when something more mundane would do. That it's "over-engineered."

The Publisher of Car and Driver magazine recently summed up the case for the 230S:

"It has more than enough brakes for its potential speed. It has the capacity to go around a corner much, much faster than anybody's ever going to go. It rides very well. The seats are designed to sustain loads and provide comfort over a longer period of time than anyone is ever going to sit in them. It's a 100 percent kind of automobile."

To those who view a car as a machine and not an image builder, this "over-engineering" makes eminent good sense. And makes the 230S well worth its $4900 price. Some reasons for that price—and some answers to the charge of "over-engineering":

"Everybody in America is going fast today, but how many of us can stop?"
—David E. Davis Jr.

The 230S can stop—and stop and stop and stop. Two strong reasons: a 9.9-inch disc brake on each front wheel.

Designed for 150-mph racing cars, disc brakes banish the threat of fade in repeated hard use. The threat of brake "lock-up" is vastly reduced. Water and dust have little effect.

Extra benefits at no extra cost: A power assist that takes the work out of braking, and dual circuit brake lines that remove the possibility of total brake failure.

"It will go down a nasty little one-lane country road just as well as it goes down the New York Thruway"
—Automotive editor

It has to. Mercedes-Benz cars are sold in 156 countries where nasty little one-lane country roads are often the only roads. A spongy "boulevard" ride won't do in Afghanistan or Iceland. Mercedes-Benz engineers had to come up with something better.

Their solution, borrowed from racing experience: a fully independent, rear swing axle suspension.

You can slam the 230S over a railway crossing and it won't still be bouncing half a mile down the road. You can travel corkscrew mountain passes and enjoy the ride. If so inclined, you could smoothly sweep around a racing circuit—without as much as pumping up the tires beforehand.

Another reason for the roadability in every 230S: standard equipment in every 230S includes heavy-duty shock absorbers, heavy-duty coil springs, front anti-sway bar, hydropneumatic load leveler at the rear axle, and 4-ply, super-premium grade tires. There's no extra charge for a 4-speed floor shift, either.

No gasping or guzzling

Those big V-8's can cruise at 90 mph—at 8 miles per gallon or so. Tiny engines sip fuel, but at 65 mph they're gasping for breath.

The 230S gives you the best of both: its 6-cylinder, single overhead camshaft engine could run at a restful 90 mph for hours, yet doesn't guzzle gas in normal driving.

This design was originally intended for the brutal stresses of racing. The engine is built up to near racing tolerances—as fine as .019 of a millimeter for bearings.

And it's built on a snail's-pace assembly line, where sample engine blocks are snatched away at random, chopped in half, and every dimension scientifically measured.

"They don't build them like they used to"
—modern American lament

Mercedes-Benz presents radiator medallions to owners who have clocked 60,000, 250,000, and over 300,000 miles. The demand is steady.

A contributing factor: the 230S body is a rigid steel shell, welded at 10,000 points. This "unit" method of construction makes obsolete the separate frame and body type, with its nuts and bolts and rattles.

Sheet metal on many body panels measures a millimeter thick (pound your fist on the 230S roof; you don't feel a wobble, you hear a "thunk!").

The 230S ranks as one of the world's sturdier 4-wheeled machines, because Mercedes-Benz ranks as one of the world's stubbornest car builders.

The company has never stopped building them like they used to.

"A car is not a rolling boudoir, a rocket ship or an oak-panelled library —so it shouldn't look like one!"
—industrial designer

The 230S seats five in considerable comfort. It does not lure you with stereo tape players or 443 color combinations. It doesn't have to:

"When you jump into it and close the door and start it up, the way the switches work, the way the door handles work, the way the seat feels when you get into it, the way the ratchet on the seat recliner feels when you change the seat adjustment—all of those things add up to an overwhelming feeling of luxury." —David E. Davis Jr.

Engineered for safety

The 230S imparts a feeling of reassurance; it puts the driver and his passengers at their ease. It is engineered to help you avoid trouble, and it is engineered for maximum protection if trouble should occur.

Front and rear body sections are designed to yield on violent impact, to absorb shock before it can hit the passenger area. Some amazing tests have shown that in roll-over crashes at 65 mph, the roof stayed intact. Inside, you will not find one careless or shabby touch. The rearview mirror is spring mounted to snap off if struck, for example. The steering wheel hub looks like a doughnut; it is padded, not pointed.

PURPOSEFUL SUMMER

Teen-Agers' Efforts To Help—

USING THE MARIN Convalescent and Rehabilitation Hospital's recreation room for a song fest are Kim Menzel, patient Roy Berg, Terry Davis and Betsy Gast. (Independent-Journal photos)

By BETTY FROST

Completing a busy and useful summer are four Belvedere girls who have spent at least five hours a week doing volunteer work at the Marin Convalescent and Rehabilitation Hospital in Tiburon. Terry Davis, 13, Kim Menzel, 14, Betsy Gast, 13, and Pam Contos, 14, who will all enter Redwood High School as freshmen this fall, want to continue their volunteer assistance to the patients at least one day a week after school begins.

What do the girls do? Three young voices are eager to share the summer experiences (Pam, who is on a different shift, was not present for our interview.) There are seven of the hospital's elderly patients who cannot feed themselves, so the Junior Red Cross youth volunteers help out. They also serve a nourishing snack, such as egg nog, custard, apple juice, or jell-o to the patients mid-morning and mid-afternoon. They assist the ambulatory in walks in the garden and give wheel chair rides in the open air to those who find walking difficult. They write letters, deliver the mail, play dominoes and cards with the lonely oldsters. Most of all they bring a wonderful breath of youth to the hospital, and are seemingly tireless in their efforts to help.

ASKED ABOUT their work, Terry said "You have to get used to it. It is a world of your own, beyond family or school. I have helped with my grandmother who is ill so I knew a little bit of what to expect."

Betsy said she felt a little strange at first, but when an old lady told her 'I'm lonely,' she found the strength to comfort her. The worst experience was the sadness when a favorite patient died.

Kim, who found men and women patients just about the same to handle, is thinking over a career in nursing. "Being here to lend a hand gives you a good feeling," she said.

Terry and Betsy felt that women patients demand a little more attention. All have their favorites among the elderly residents of the hospital.

THE GIRLS HAD heard about the volunteer activity two years ago, but "We had to wait until we were old enough." They took a modified home nursing course at the American Red Cross headquarters in San Rafael and had a brief orientation session. Betsy, Terry and Kim made their own smart blue and white striped pinafore-style uniforms, using a regulation pattern.

Topping off the purposeful summer was the unsolicited accolade from head nurse, Mrs. Dorothy Berry, "The girls this year have been especially good," she said.

A LITTLE OUTING on the patio of Marin Convalescent and Rehabilitation Hospital brings pleasure to patients. Enjoying the view are Kim Menzel, Mrs. Molly Flavell, Betsy Gast, Terry Davis and Mrs. Alice Crabtree. (Independent Journal photos by Harry Mathias)

'Soft-Headed' Draft-Dodger May Soon Hear The Call From Uncle

DEAR HELEN

What do you think of a young punk like this? He's my nephew, though I'm ashamed to claim him. First of all he flunked out of college, and tried to avoid the draft by getting into a defense plant. He didn't make it.

Well, the next thing I hear is that he has married a girl who will have a baby next month — about the time he's due to get his call from Uncle.

His mother says the baby isn't his. In fact, he didn't even know the girl until two weeks ago, but he "felt so sorry for her plight" that he gave her his name. She says they don't really live together and "may get a divorce later on." They have an "agreement."

I wonder who he thinks he's fooling? I'd sure laugh if the army took him anyway, and he had to send his check home to his "family."

AUNT

DEAR AUNT:

He sounds more soft-headed than soft-hearted. If he has an alert draft board, I think you'll soon be laughing.

H.

DEAR HELEN:

I was a widow one year, then met and married a bachelor of 57. I am 55. My husband owns his home, has stocks, bonds, a bank account, and his insurance, all in his father's name. His father, age 87, lives with us.

My husband has no will and doesn't want to talk about it. I've tried.

What is bothering me: shouldn't he put me down as a beneficiary and heir? At times I feel he married me just for a housekeeper and nursmaid.

T.Y.

DEAR T:

If home, stocks, bonds and bank account are in your father-in-law's name, they could be his, not your husband's, which would naturally make him edgy about discussing his financial situation with a new wife.

Don't push, but do suggest that everyone should have a will. When he takes this first step, his lawyer can advise on insurance beneficiaries, etc.

Seems to me there's a bit of distrust here on both sides; legal counseling may eliminate the "dis."

H.

DEAR HELEN:

Please excuse the looks of this letter. I am 82 years old and almost blinded in one eye.

My wife died in 1964, after we had been married 54 years. I moved to an apartment and was very lonely. One morning a woman of about 40 moved in with her nine-year-old son and small baby. I found out they didn't have any money and were hungry so I invited them in to eat with me.

She asked if she could stay with me and I said that wouldn't be right unless we were married, so we got married.

Well I soon found out she liked men pretty well. She took my social security check as soon as I signed it and that's the last I ever saw of the money. I sat home and took care of her baby. I was almost a prisoner. I fed her, but she wouldn't feed me. Finally I sneaked out and ran away to another town, but she's after me for "support." All I have is my SS and a little savings. What can I do to get out of the clutches of this devil's angel?

KIND AND PAYING FOR IT

DEAR K and PFI:

Call the Legal Aid Society in your city. I think you can be helped, but, not being a lawyer, I don't know how.

Miss Francine Is Bride Of William Shaw

St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross was the setting on Saturday for the wedding of Laura Anne Francine and William Dwight Shaw Jr., both of Kentfield.

The bride, the daughter of Jacques Louis Francine of Philadelphia and the late Sally Francine, was given in marriage by her uncle, Roderick Laird Dungan in the double ring ceremony. The Rev. T. W. Ewald officated at the 4 p.m. rite for which Laura wore an empire styled gown of reembroidered Alencon lace with chapel train.

Elizabeth Bernhard of San Rafael wore a sheath dress of sea-blue silk pique as maid of honor. Serving as best man for his brother was John Parkinson Shaw of Kentfield.

Following a reception at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Edmund R. Dungan of Kentfield, the couple left on a wedding trip to Tuscon, Ariz.

Mediterranean Manor

The "Spanish look" to home furnishings goes on and on, although when it first arrived on the scene several years ago some experts dubbed it a fad. But "the Mediterranean theme, which is merely an expansion of the Spanish look," has gained in popularity instead of fading, says interior designer Mary Ann Wills, consultant to makers of wall accessories.

Better Cleaning

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hot water and the type of detergent used in laundering woven woolen fabrics are not the causes of shrinkage of the material, according to research at Oregon State University.

The temperature of the water affects the amount of oil removed, however. Water at 120 degrees F. with a detergent will do a much better cleaning job than at 70 degrees.

Floor Coverer Kills His Wife

OAKLAND (UPI)—Elston S. Runyon, 55, a retired floor covering superintendent, telephoned Oakland police yesterday and calmly informed them that he had just shot his wife.

Officers responding to the call found Runyon waiting for them on the porch of his home. They found the body of his wife, Esther, 56, sprawled in the hallway.

Authorities said Mrs. Runyon had been shot in the back with a deer rifle, but Runyon would give no reason for the shooting. The suspect, who police said attempted suicide last January, was booked for investigation of murder.

North State Hits LBJ Park Plan

CRESCENT CITY (UPI)—Del Norte county residents today continued their nationwide protest against President Johnson's request for legislation halting logging in a proposed Redwoods park site.

They have asked relatives and friends through the country to help flood Congress with letters, telegrams and phone calls.

Residents of the northern California county claim the local lumber industry accounts for 90 per cent of their economy —and that parks already include 72 per cent of the county.

President Johnson's request followed a claim by conservationists that Miller-Rellim Company of Crescent City as deliberately cutting redwoods in the proposed national park area. The firm owns 24,000 acres, 14,000 of which the government wants for the park.

State Assemblyman Edwin Z'Berg, D-Sacramento, has called for a similar protest to protect a potential park site in Humboldt county under consideration by Congress.

ATHENEUM BENEFIT

Some Fine Moments In Dance, Drama

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Yesterday afternoon's "art spectrum" benefit festival was more than a five-hour marathon containing some fine moments in instrumental and vocal music, dance and drama.

Only a fair sized audience attended the event in the Cushing Memorial Theater on Mount Tamalpais. It was presented in tribute to the Atheneum Arts Foundation by many artists who donated their time and talents to this organization that was instituted to give direct assistance to individual artists and groups of artists.

In music, the high points for us were Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 2, Opus 19, performed by the 55-piece Richmond Symphony featuring pianist Bernhard Abramowitsch and the songs by lyric soprano Diane Trethowan.

Directed ably by William Jackson, the orchestra was most impressive in the concerto, in which Abramowitsch gave a masterful performance, living up to his illustrious reputation.

In its permier performance, Bay Area composer Donald Aird's chamber concerto, using about half the orchestra composed mostly of strings, proved an interesting work of intricate and difficult rhythms and astringent harmonies.

While acoustics in the outdoor theater are remarkably good, some kind of shell to focus and make the most of the sonority of large groups is needed. Voice and individual instruments fared much better.

Miss Threthowan's lyric soprano was of wide range, lovely quality and great agility and power in Schubert's "The Shepherd on the Rock" and the recitative and aria "Come Scoglio" from Mozart's "Cosi Fan Tutte." Jeffrey Straus provided the beautiful obliggato in the Schubert song and William Vendice was a good piano accompanist.

FIERY TECHNIQUE

A flashing, fiery technique such as one seldom hears on the guitar was the amazing flamenco guitarist Juan Serrano's contribution to the afternoon.

Fascinating pas de deux was one danced with great flair by Grace Doty and Thatcher Clarke to choreography in ballet style by Tito Barbon. Modern in technique as well as theme was "Covenant," in which Elizabeth Harris in her own choreography performed an intensely emotional and expressive dance using a very long peace of 2x4 wood as a symbolic focal point.

While Frank Bolger showed considerable dramatic talent in his reading, "A Lecture of Some Importance?," it did not seem particularly suitable for this occasion.

NOT THERE

A moment of live drama occurred when Alan Watts, a member of the foundation's board of trustees, announced that famed dancer, Ruth St. Dennis would not appear. She had been stricken with a heart attack and is in a hospital in Los Angeles. He played her own taped recording of what she had planned to say in person on "A Minute for Peace."

Major points were that "man can have peace the day he desires peace more than power" and when women are able to use their power equally with men to make it possible.

In keeping with the foundation's raison d'etre, Watts said that contributions would be accepted to help with Miss St. Dennis's expenses.

Also performing before our arrival were balladeer Edward Ellison and the Ne'urim Israeli folk singers and dancers.

MUSIC REVIEW

Bach, Mozart Concert Was Delightful

By DR. HYMAN I. KRONGARD

Stolte Grove, Homestead Valley, made available by its owners, Mrs. Kenyon Spalding and Frank Stolte, the weather and fine music exquisitely presented by the Bach to Mozart Chamber Group combined to give a goodly audience a delightful experience yesterday afternoon.

In this perfect chamber music setting an entranced audience seemed to inspare the performers, and an ever-increasing intercommunication between players and audience heightened the pleasure of both.

TEXTURE CLEAR

Conducted by Robert Hughes, the orchestra played with gossamer lightness and grace. The extreme transparency of this deceptive difficult music requires a finish far beyond that of other styles. The polyphonic texture was crystal clear. Each part was a marvel of precision, each entrance a surprise of rhymthic and dynamic satisfaction.

The sensitivity and musicianship of the group and is composer became apparent with the first number, Purcell's overture from "The Indian Queen." The contrasting sections were given with delicate clarity and an incredible range of dynamics.

Baritone Edgar Jones was responsible for the programming of the delightful, tongue-in-cheek cantata, "The School of Anacreon," by Dr. Thomas Arne. He discovered this little known work at the University of California, so that yesterday's performance may be considered a premiere. Jones sang the story of the pleasure-advising opus with mirthful good humor, always conveying its bantering hilarity.

CONCERTO SOLOIST

Edward Haug, using the lighter E flat trumpet, was the soloist in the Haydn concerto. He has a beautiful, dynamically varied tone, whose ultimate loveliness was expressed in the slow movement, where a mood of unbroken, serene contentment was created. The last moment was a display of effortless virtuosity.

After intermission soprano Carole Bogard and oboist Raymond Duste combined their talents with the orchestra in Bach's cantata "Ich Bin Gergnuegt Mit Meinem Gluecke." Miss Bogard was in top form as she conveyed the range of moods of the cantata, beginning with a humble, pleading, self-effacing gesture of gratitude and concluding with a joyous acceptance of the offered bounty. Duste, as usual, played impeccably. His delight in playing with the group was clearly apparent and infectious.

The concert concluded with Mozart's "Divertimento in D Major" by the orchestra, where again a range of dynamics beyond that expected from a chamber orchestra, clarity of part playing and gratifying phrasing produced an outstanding performance.

At the conclusion an applauding audience remained in place, hoping for an encore to this concert provided through the cooperation of Local No. 6 of the American Federation of Musicians, AFL-CIO.

But Marinites will have to wait for the group's first concert in the 1966-67 Candlelight Concert Series on Nov. 13 to hear this group again.

Marin Moviemakers Film Nazi Document

A documentary film on the American Nazi party, produced by Marlin Johnson of Larkspur, will be featured at the Robert Flaherty Film Seminar in New York next Thursday.

Titled "This Time the World," the movie is Johnson's first production to be released. Inclusion in the seminar, an annual meeting of international film makers, is considered an accolade in the documentary industry.

Johnson, 32, owns a small company called Sun Film, and operates out of a studio on Boardwalk One, Larkspur. He's the director and producer — and works as a tax consultant from January through April. The rest of the year he devotes exclusively to his movie career.

His wife, Carol, is camera operator for Sun Film. Other crew members are Douglas McKechnie, sound and lights, and Katherine Washburn, script girl, who both live in San Francisco.

Johnson said the crew is elated at the documentary's inclusion in the international seminar. "We've made about three films before but none have been released. This one will definitely go on general release later this year," he reported.

Sun Film has been in operation for about eight years, Johnson said. "I got out of school at Berkeley, went in the Air Force, then came to Larkspur and built a house and studio to make films."

The whole Sun Film crew moved to American Nazi headquarters in Arlington, Va., last fall for the production, where they spent six months filming the activities of George Lincoln Rockwell and his storm troopers. The film is built around Rockwell's campaign for the governorship of Virginia and covers day-to-day activities of Nazi party members.

Johnson compared shooting the movie to "being inside a Nazi state."

"Rockwell insisted on the right to censor all our footage before he would let us film internal party activities. It was like working in Germany in the '30s."

Rockwell didn't censor all the film, however. Johnson recalled some hair-raising times when they shot campaign speeches.

"Rockwell made all his speeches from the top of a camper truck. Sitting inside was an old fellow with a .30-.30 rifle who was determined to shoot anyone who threatened his leader. Most of the speeches were made at night, and it was very dark in the audience. Every time we'd raise a camera with the telephoto lens we'd pray that old guy wouldn't mistake it for a gun. So many of those people are border-line cases mentally."

Johnson and his crew are working on three more movies: Two documentaries, are on divorce and the other on disarmament, and a feature film with a love theme.

New Delhi Law Students Riot

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — University students today burned a city bus, then stoned firemen as they arrived on the scene near the Delhi University campus.

Authorities immediately ordered all colleges in the capital closed for the day.

The student violence appeared to be a continuation of agitation by law school students against an act requiring prospective lawyers to appear for a bar-council examination.

Soviet Critic Asks Arts Freedom

MOSCOW (AP) — The liberal Soviet magazine New World celebrated its 500th issue this weekend with a plea for artistic freedom.

The monthly magazine published a 40-page article by critic V. Lakshin, attacking critics who insisted while Nikita S. Khrushchev was premier that writers play up only the good side of life under communism.

Condemning such criticism, Lakshin wrote: "The critic tells the author strictly where to look and what to see.

HUMILIATING

"But doesn't an artist have the right to look everywhere and see everything that affects him and troubles him on the wide path of life?

"The position of a writer is humilitating if he puts on blinders before starting out (on this path)."

Lakshin described as an example of wrongful criticism an unfavorable review of the story "Matryona's Yard."

The story, written by the liberal writer Alexander Solzhenitsyn, told of a kindhearted country woman who suffered at the hands of her neighbors. It exposed some bad sides of Soviet village life.

FACING REALITY

A critic named V. Poltoratsky came out against the story in a review published in March 1963 in the official government paper Izvestia. He said the author should have written about a prosperous collective farm.

Opposing this criticism, Lakshin defended the author and accused Poltoratsky of being unwilling to face reality.

Lakshin charged Poltoratsky was under the influence of "subjectivism" — the catchword used here to mean government policy under Khrushchev.

"The original estimation of the story," Lakshin said, "was really formed not without the influence of those events which we now call subjectivism," when the tendency was to neglect the facts, to prove that everything in our agriculture was going in the best way, that we were almost catching up with America in production of butter, meat and milk."

Poltoratsky's Izvestia article in 1963 came at a time when Khrushchev was cracking down hard on artistic freedom.

Since then there has been some relaxation of control. But conservative hardliners continue to be influential, as shown in last February's trial and stiff sentencing of writers Andrei D. Sinyavsky and Yuli M. Daniel for smuggling abroad works critical of the Soviet Union.

Tiburon Planners Due Lecture On Attendance

Chairman Stephen H. Nash said he will give Tiburon planning commissioners a stiff lecture on attendance when they meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall.

Nash said he had difficulty trying to chair simultaneous meetings of the boards of design review and adjustments when only three members showed up at the last meeting Aug. 15. He said he will also suggest different meeting nights for the boards to help unsnarl the difficulty.

The planners will also consider granting a use permit to Fred G. Zalinsky for a fish and chips restaurant at 7-9 Main Street and study a $7,000 traffic plan for the intersection of Main Street, Tiburon Boulevard and Paradise Drive.

ART REVIEW

Sausalito's Show Has Imagination

By LAURA DEVENDORF

In the past you could always count on the Sausalito Art Festival to furnish marvelous copy. You didn't even have to look for stories; they fell on you like rain. But this year things were different.

Gone were the lavender, lime and banged-up baby-blue panels. No weird contraptions carened through the Labor Day weekend crowd, no one assaulted you with buttons, slogans or leaflets and, in fact, there was not even one raunchy old paint rag on display. Instead, the Sausalito Art Festival was all the name implies. This year it really was art.

IT WAS FUN

That isn't to say it wasn't fun. It had color, sound and a warm festivity that was reflected by artist and patron alike. But more to the point, as an art show it was excellent.

Of the exhibtors, 14 won display awards. From Sausalito they were Lenn Kanenson, painting; Serge Trubach, painting and collage; Mike Nail, prints; Dan Howard, painting; Dan Rommerscirchen, drawing; Mary Lindheim, mosaics and painting; Alice Scarborough, prints and Michael Bry, photography.

Mill Valley winners were Patrick Humble, painting and Don and Gloria Dudley, painting; while from other areas were William Nilsen, Woodacre, painting; William Kirsch, San Rafael, painting and Dickens Bascom, Larkspur, reliefs and other media.

Not only the winners but so many others showed such interesting work it would be unfair to single out a few, a situation much to the credit of the artists who set up such a howl after last year's event.

They contended the festival had become so awful the better artists were boycotting it completely and they offered help in making it better. They formed a committee, met and planned for a year, changed the site from the bleak school yard to Bridgeway and, finally, invited one hundred better-known Marin artists to display.

Of these, 54 accepted and the number was increased to 110 fine artists and 30 craftsmen after careful screening of additional applicants.

This done, the committee designed the showing area for viewing ease, replaced the battered panels with pegboard, added interesting architectural and other displays and then decorated the whole with imagination and taste.

And it worked. The exhibits within that ring of bright pyramids and stitchery banners were so remarkably good you couldn't believe it was the same festival.

The efforts of co-chairmen Michael Bry and William Kirsch and their committee may not have made news but they certainly made a better, more enjoyable art show which is, after all, what it was supposed to be all about.

Queen Due Crown In Jaycee Event

The crowning of the "Marin Holiday" Queen in front of the Courthouse during a moonlight sale tomorrow marks the highlight of the first day of San Rafael's "Marin Holiday," sponsored by the San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Greater San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

A club bazaar and amateur show in Albert Field will be the main events on Wednesday. On Thursday the Jaycees circus will give two performances in the Northgate Industrial Park.

Free Yacht tours of the canal area will be held both on Friday and Saturday with skin-diving demonstrations on both days by Stan's Skin Diving Club at Dominic's dockside. Folk singing and a sing-along in Albert Park will also be held Friday.

A free hot dog feed at the Northgate Mall will open the activities on Saturday. This will be culminated with a yacht parade at 7 p.m. and a display of fireworks at 9:15 p.m.

An amateur golf tournament will be held Sunday.

Biology-Mental Illness Search Progressing

By PATRICIA McBROOM
Science Service Writer

WASHINGTON — The patient search for the biological basis of mental illness is beginning to yield solid evidence of the most fundamental kind.

Scientists engaged in this search accept the theory that an emotional ill must be reflected somehow in the physiology of the brain. But how is such a link found in the intricacies of the brain? And once found, how can scientists tell whether the chemical or electrical abnormality is a cause or result of mental disease?

An Englishman, Dr. David Murry Shaw, has not proved any cause and effect relationship, but he has found a "gross" disturbance at the cellular level in manic and depressed patients.

During depression, patients retained half again as much cell sodium as normal people, while manic patients had an increase of 200 per cent. On the other hand, potassium concentrations in the cells of depressed patients were lower than normal.

Such abnormalities represent a major disruption in the sodium-potassium equilibrium of cells, a disruption that is particularly significant in light of the theory that brain cell excitability depends upon the proper distribution of these ions across the cell membrane.

Dr. Shaw, who did his work at the West Park Hospital in Epsom and the MRC Laboratories in Surrey, noted that sodium levels return to normal directly upon the patient's recovery from depression or mania. Potassium levels, however, do not.

Dr. Shaw's research was not done directly upon the brain cell itself, but he believes that these abnormalities, which he found to exist widely in the body, also exist in cells of the central nervous system.

He said in the British Medical Journal that the biochemical changes observed are "gross to a degree seen up to now only in advanced cancer and similar wasting diseases.

Admitting several assumptions, Dr. Shaw gave a possible explanation for mental disorder: If this severe ionic disturbance is true of the brain, he said, then the manic and depressed patients will have "less active synapses," in other words, duller circuits between the nerve cells.

Eat Less, Do More, Test Shows

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Eating less means doing more, or so it seems. In nutrition experiments with rates, a scientist has found that animals on a restricted diet exercised more than those that were well fed.

The animals were given diets balanced much the same as those eaten by an average person in the United States. Cornstarch represented starchy bread and potatoes; beef tallow and corn oils equalled fats and oils. They were also fed an adequate daily supplement of proteins, vitamins and minerals.

Some of the experimental animals were liberally fed. Others received only 60 per cent as many calories, but both groups were given the same amounts of proteins, vitamins and minerals.

All of the rats were still growing. Those receiving small meals gained an average of 33 grams during the 31-day test period. Their well-fed friends gained an average of 87 grams—two and a half times as much.

Rats are normally active at night and these two groups were no exception. All of them were up and about, using their exercise wheel freely.

During the day, however, the well-fed rats rested while those on the restricted diet ran in the wheel almost as much as at night. They averaged 9,700 spins compared to only 5,870 by the less active.

The sleep patterns of the two groups were somewhat different, too. The active runners took naps around the clock instead of sleeping for long stretches during the daytime like the well-fed group.

Physiologist R. A. Ahrens of the Agricultural Research Service, Beltsville, Md., conducted the studies reported in Agricultural Research.

This Is Your Little Computer On The Line

NORTHLAKE, Ill. (AP)—Development of a telephone that can be used to query a computer over existing telephone lines and obtain an immediate voice response has been announced by Automatic Electric Co.

Company president Darwin H. Deaver said that a typical application, as checking a credit rating, would take about 30 seconds. In that time the computer would give the caller a voice message such as "Credit okay," "Limit credit to $50," "Credit card reported lost" or "Credit not okay."

The computer is connected to telephone central office switching equipment through a data set. Once the connection is made by dialing, a question is asked the computer by tapping out a series of digits on push-buttons. In the case of the credit inquiry, the sales clerk would enter the account number.

Missiles' Grave To Be Buried

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP) — The Army will bury its missile graveyard here.

Army officials said that the 10 acres in which spent missiles are dumped will be cleared. The bent missile fins, crushed nose cones and jagged pieces of missile bodies will be pushed into an excavation and covered with desert sands.

The Army said that in the future recovered missile parts will be stripped of classified or hazardous components and sold for salvage.

Tax Cheaters Driven Crazy

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Mental illness can stem from cheating on income tax or "anything that one has done and is afraid of being found out."

This is the view of Dr. O. Hobart Mowrer who said there "is going to be a certain amount of personality disorder in every society no matter how good it is . . . because the person involved has decided to cheat on his society."

Such a person, according to Dr. Mowrer, "is afraid of external detection and his conscience bothers him"

Computers Test New Computers

BOSTON (AP) — Computers rely heavily on each other during their manufacture.

At Honeywell's computer plant here, computers help design new versions of themselves, then test to be sure the design is good.

Later, they check to insure the new machines are wired properly.

Just before being sent to customers, the new machines are diagnosed and given a final okay — by still another computer.

Doctors Concerned Over Collision Hurts

CHICAGO (AP) — The American Medical Assn. has called for more research on prevention of injuries caused by the so-called "second collision" in an auto crash.

In an editorial in a recent issue of the Journal of the AMA, the "second collision" is defined as what happens when the driver or passengers are thrown against the interior of the car after it collides with another object.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Hot Water Provides Top Relief For Itching, But Few Know It

VAN DELLEN

Hot water is one of the best, but least known, methods of relieving itching. The water should be hot enough to cause discomfort, but not hot enough to burn the skin. According to Medical Letter, this simple remedy has been known to some dermatologists who found it valuable in alleviating contact dermatitis, poison ivy, and insect bites.

THE TEMPERATURE of the water should vary from 120 to 140 degrees F. The itching may be aggravated if the water is not warm enough. A water bath thermometer should be purchased to make sure that the temperature is within the correct range.

The water can be applied with a wash cloth or by holding the itchy part under the faucet. The heat is applied momentarily and repeated several times. The plan is more suitable for localized pruritus such as on the hands, feet, or neck. The temperature is too high for warming a large area or for use in a tub or shower.

Severe or prolonged itching should be investigated by the physician because permanent relief occurs only when the cause is eliminated. The hot water treatment may, however, bring temporary relief.

The corticosteroids also relieve itching and can be taken orally or applied locally in salves, ointments, or creams. Cordran, Kenalog, and Synalar are examples of the latter.

The antihistamines also are of value. Local anesthetics, soothing lotions, cleansing agents, and hundreds of other agents are used for this purpose. Temaril is an oral preparation that is said to relieve itchiness. Aspirin may do the same.

There are as many origins of itching as there are remedies. Allergic disorders including insect bites are perhaps the most common. The symptom may be present without visible lesions of the skin. It is a common manifestation of nervousness or of general disorders such as diabetes, jaundice, and kidney disease. Many forms of dermatitis are associated with itching and some of these may be aggravated by hot water.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

YOUNG GIGGLER

Mrs. J. E. writes: My 3-year-old daughter laughs and giggles for an hour before going to sleep. She also wakes up at night and does the same thing. She seems normal otherwise, but I was wondering if there is something wrong with her.

REPLY

Laughing is preferable to crying any day. If you are concerned about her mentality consult a competent pediatrician.

GALL BLADDER

Mrs. M. writes: How will losing weight relieve gall bladder trouble?

REPLY

Indirectly. It helps the surgeon, should an operation be necessary because the technic is simplified when there are fewer layers of fat to cut through.

WONDER LEAF

J. W. writes: Will three leaves of spinach daily supply all of the body's calcium and vitamin needs?

REPLY

No. Spinach has no more to offer than other green vegetables and it may encourage kidney stone formation.

NAMES FOR ANXIETY

Mrs. G. writes: Is "neurosis" the modern name for "nervousness?"

REPLY

Yes, but there are several types of neuroses. In the strict sense, nervousness refers to the milder forms of anxiety and frustration.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Marriage And Criminal Law

Many a murder mystery has been written about the killer who later marries the key witness to try to prevent her later testimony against him.

Our penal Code says that neither the husband nor wife can testify against the other in a criminal case without the other's consent.

The rule had its origin in the early idea that a man and wife were really one single entity. If the wife were called to testify against her husband it was in effect forcing the man to testify against himself—to incriminate himself. Today we recognize the husband and wife as separate legal entities.

The rule also aims to preserve marital harmony. This is still the main reason for the rule. But the rule does not apply where the harmony is lost or beyond preservation. Thus when the husband has beaten his wife or the children, the wife can testify against him without his consent. Or if the husband has schemed to steal her property, the law allows the wife to testify against her husband without his consent.

In a recent case Bill Badd was found guilty of robbing and later killing his victim. It was then up to the jury to decide on whether Bill should be given a life sentence or death. In setting the penalty the jury looks at the circumstances of the crime, the defendant's background as it may affect the penalty.

The district attorney called Mrs. Badd. She said that Bill was often violent, often beat her, and on one occasion almost killed her.

When Bill got the death sentence, he appealed and claimed that the jury should not have heard Mrs. Badd without his consent. The Court ruled that her testimony was admissible, the violence Mrs. Badd told about could in no way preserve marital harmony.

The law also protects some "confidential communications" between husband and wife. Neither may disclose family secrets in court when one party objects.

Some of the old limitations upon husband and wife have been lost of late. For example, the law now permits lawsuits between husband and wife for injuries done to the other on purpose or through negligence.

Tepid Review For New De Seta Film

VENICE, Italy (AP) — The Italian entry "Un Uomo a Meta" (a half a man) received polite applause and lukewarm reviews at the Venice Film Festival last night.

The picture is by director Vittorio de Seta, who won the first-work prize at the 1961 Venice Festival with "Bandits at Orgosolo."

Jacques Perrin stars as a writer about to have a nervous breakdown. Unable to continue working, the writer analyzes his own past and manages to pull himself out of his psychoses.

De Seta, 43, spent three years filming the picture.

Critics thought his theme valid but the outcome negative. Some judged the film badly paced, rather forced, boring in its conclusion and lacking significance. A few described it as among the worst of the 14 films competing this year for the Golden Lion prize.

Also shown at the festival yesterday—for the second time and, again, to a restricted audience — was the Swedish entry "Nattlek" (Night Games.)

The film study of a man's sexual inhibitions was admitted by the festival director, Luigi Chiarini, under restricted conditions to avoid possible trouble with Italian laws on public decency.

Javits Seeking Dirksen Support On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate debate on the 1966 civil rights bill opens Tuesday and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen is coming under pressure from his colleagues to drop his opposition to the measure's open housing section.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said it would be very damaging to the Republican party if its senators block passage of the section. Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., said the party is in a bad position if it accepts Dirksen's opposition as the official Republican stand.

The two commented yesterday broadcast in their respective states. Javits also predicted Dirksen would ease his opposition and support at least a compromise housing section.

Sun Flare Hits At Communication

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — The most potent sun flare in nearly six years has wrought havoc with long-range radio transmission throughout the world.

The flare, an explosion on the sun which sends a stream of electromagnetic particles through the earth's atmosphere, began Friday. Physicists at the Institute for Telecommunication Sciences and Aeronomy at Boulder say it should be about over.

The flare was rated Class Two on a zero to four-point scale. Although a Class Four is the biggest flare, the rating is based on a visible measure of its area. The recent flare is not the biggest, but the strongest since about 1960.

The greatest number of counties reporting rabies-infected animals in New York State came in 1965 when 31 counties recorded confirmed rabies cases.

690 Braceros

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — An additional 600 Mexican national farm workers have been requested today by the San Joaquin Farm Production Assn. for the wine grape harvest. The request was forwarded to Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz for consideration. The workers are sought to fill a shortage which will start Sept. 6.

TELEVISION REVIEW

How To See Through All The Commercials

By CNYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Television's entertainment programs have two seasons. There is the "new" season that start tomorrow. And there is that three-to-four month period just past that is devoted to reruns.

But television commercials do not follow any predictable pattern. Some commercials are used year after year on a seasonal basis. Others are run year-round until it occurs to some agency man that perhaps the audience has grown very tired of them.

WARM MONTHS

During the warm - weather months its is possible to conclude from most of the cigarette and soft-drink commercials that both are consumed almost entirely on the nation's beaches. With the change of seasons, the cigarette smokers move into glamorous ski lodges and the soft-drink crowd takes its rock 'n' roll music into somebody's living room.

If one is an inveterate television watcher, there are interesting little games to be played during commercials.

Voice identification is one game. Surely any television devotee can recognize the stately cadences of Alexander Scourby's voice whether he is urging us to take a certain airline, describing the fragrance of a perfume or suggesting the purchase of adhesive bandages.

PRAISES BRAND

Who can miss the elegant enunciation of Martin Gabel when, unseen and unidentified, he praises a brand of cigarettes? Isn't the girl who sings of the beauty of support stockings the same young woman who used to describe gourmet dishes available in instant form? And doesn't it sound exactly like Barbara Baxley?

If you see enough commercials you get to recognize the faces of actors most often used.

The big new vogue in commercials involves messages known as "piggy-backs." That means that the sponsor is able to squeeze two sales talks into one time spot. Currently we are seeing double in close to half of our prime-time network sales messages.

Such commercials are permissible, thank goodness, only when the same sponsor turns out both products. The way things are right now, there can be as many as eight different sales pitches surrounding one station break — three piggy-back commercials, plus a short local one and quick plugs for upcoming television shows.

The Oceanographer, a 303-foot, 3,800-ton vessel under construction since July 1963, is the largest, most completely automated oceanographic ship in the U.S.

Brown Asks For Crime Fight Plan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gov. Brown proposed today an intensified war on crime, and announced he would fight it on five fronts.

In a speech prepared for delivery to a Catholic Labor Institute breakfast audience Brown said the five point program would deal with prevention, enforcement and rehabilitation.

He proposed:

The linking of more scientific techniques with law enforcement to "make new breakthroughs in crime prevention, detection and apprehension."

"A family court as a new legal mechanism to help prevent the breakdown of the family unit and its tragic after-effects of broken homes."

Legislation to assist local government, financially and technically, with a wide range of anti-crime programs and projects.

Expansion of the state's narcotics rehabilitation program.

"Additional steps to crack down on the pornography peddler in California, particularly those who would peddle this poison to our young."

Indians inhabited the region of the Upper Great Lakes as early as 1,000 B.C.

Greta Growing Into Hurricane

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Greta, the season's seventh tropical storm, was expected to grow to hurricane intensity today as scientists considered whether to try to seed her angry winds into submission.

Although she was still small and no immediate danger to land, forecasters predicted Greta would increase in size and power as she ranged over the warm waters of the South Atlantic.

Officials of Project Stormfury, the tropical storm "seeding" agency, were expected to decide during the day whether to sprinkle Greta with silver iodide.

Lynda Vacations In Wisconsin

MENASHA, Wis. (AP) — A Lake Winnebago boat trip gave Lynda Bird Johnson a degree of privacy yesterday during her Labor Day weekend stay with a young military attorney and his family.

President Johnson's elder daughter said she planned to return tonight to Washington with Army Capt. Michael Phenner, 28, a White House social aide. He has been her escort since they arrived Friday at the Phenner family's home on Lake Winnebago.

Children's Center To Be Inspected

The Marin County Board of Education will meet tomorrow at Manzanita School, Sausalito, to inspect the county children's center.

During the 8 p.m. meeting the board will hear a report from the center staff on the pre-school facility. The board will also consider the employment of several teachers, directors and consultants.

Cerrudo's 'Blackout' Cost Him National Golf Title

Ron Cerrudo, the 21-year-old San Rafael resident who can sink 18-inch putts with his eyes closed, missed one that size Saturday and it cost him a tie for the National Amateur Golf Championship at Ardmore, Pa.

The former San Jose State College student thus wound up in a three-way tie for runner-up honors after learning "the biggest lesson of his life," according to his mother, Mrs. John Cerrudo of 151 Fernwood Drive.

"Ron called me five minutes after he missed that putt Saturday," Mrs. Cerrudo said. "He was sick. He said when he got over that putt he just blacked out and couldn't remember a thing. I think he broke his concentration walking up to the green and it was the biggest lesson of his life."

Gary Cowan of Canada won the title yesterday in an 18-hole playoff with Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., 75 to 76. They tied Saturday, Beman blowing a four-stroke lead, with 72-hole scores of 285. Cerrudo scored 286 with Downing Gray of Pensacola, Fla. and Jack Lewis of Wake Forest College.

Cerrudo, who was driving home from Ardmore today, was playing one under par through 16 holes Saturday and had a great shot at the championship. He hit 16 greens, but lost his touch with a bogey-bogey finish. Had he parred out he would have won the title outright; had he parred either of the two final holes he would have been in yesterday's playoff; but that 18-inch careless putt gave him a final round of 71 and runner-up status in the biggest opportunity in his life.

Cerrudo has quit San Jose College but has not yet indicated if he will turn professional in the immediate future.

Next week he opens defense of his Northern California championship title and on Sept. 18 will play in the Marin Invitational Tournament of Stars at Peacock Gap.

Marin's other entrant in the National Amateur, 39-year-old Kai Thomsen of Novato, finished with a 77 Saturday that gave him a total of 305.

Yesterday's playoff was a close, bitter struggle between the two insurance men and wasn't decided until the blond, handsome Cowan closed it out with a six foot putt on the 18th.

Beman, who threw away a three stroke lead Saturday on the final two holes of the regulation 72 hole tournament, was more disgusted than disappointed.

"I didn't make s single mistake," said the 28--old two-time champion. "I'm amazed I could post a 76 with that few bad shots. I'll be thinking about that for a long time."

Asked how it felt to be the first foreigner to win the American amateur title in 34-years, Cowan said:

"I hope it convinces Canadian golfers the Americans can be beaten.

"Our golfers read so many press clippings about how good the Americans are that they feel we can't beat them. I've proved it to myself and played with them long enough to know this isn't true."

Cowan said the international flavor of this competition was "the best thing I have going for me. I find it hard to get charged up when I play in Canada, but I can when I play in the States."

Beman and the other Americans will have a chance next month to meet Cowan's indirect challenge. The international golf championship for the Eisenhower Cup is scheduled for Mexico City in October.

It would seem logical to assume that Beman will be a member of Uncle Sam's team. He played in 1962 at Tokyo and it was his 66 against Cowan's 68 that turned the matches in America's favor. The two probably will meet in the rubber match south of the border.

In Sunday's playoff between Cowan and Beman, who deadlocked with five over par 285s for 72 holes, the Canadian won out when Beman carded four straight bogeys on 14 through 17.

Stage Set For Thrilling N.L. Pennant Chase

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

Marin Athletes Earn Spurs In The Screen Actors Guild

LIGHTS, CAMERA, ACTION! Two young Marin County men spent considerable time on camera Saturday and, although both failed in their pursuit of athletic happiness, they may have qualified for Emmy Awards. Or at least further screen tests.

Ron Cerrudo of San Rafael and John Boccabelia of San Anselmo were our budding Barrymores in the Saturday Sports Specials—the former as a dramatic contender in the National Amateur Golf Championships at Ardmore, Pa., the latter as outfielder for the Chicago Cubs who had the coaxial treatment in their game with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Cerrudo was brought to us in living color and spent so much time on center stage I was beginning to suspect his father was the cameraman.

RON, THE 21-year-old golf star who moved with his family to San Rafael earlier this year, was right in the thick of the National Amateur race until he blew sky high on the last two holes with a bogey-bogey finish. A muscular former San Jose State student, Ron carelessly missed an 18-inch putt on the final hole which cost him a tie for the championship. Looking sharp in white shirt and gray slacked, Ron spun away from the camera, but then managed a sheepish grin. He missed the National Amateur title —or at least a tie for it—by a few inches. It probably will be the last time he will hurry a gimme putt.

BOCCABELLA, MEANWHILE, was doing his dramatics at about the same time so my TV set was switched from the National Amateur to the Cubs-Pirates game to the Giants-Cardinals game all afternoon.

Johnny Boc went hitless, but made a nice throw from his left field position, managed to con the announcer to "say hello to my mother watching out in San Anselmo, Calif.", and figured in the center of a disputed play at first base. His grounder to shortstop was erred at first base and the umpire who called him out reversed the decision, creating a big ruhbarb that lasted three or four minutes. The camera covered the beef and occasionally pictured Johnny standing smugly on first base. He looked a little like John Wayne and we cheered his fine performance.

Bravos for Ron and John. Even though they lost the contest, they carried on in the finest tradition of show biz.

THE PRESSURE is on the Novato Hornets in general and Bill Hickerson of Drake in particular this football season.

Calprep Football, published by Calendar Sports Publication of Sacramento, is hot off the presses with its 1966 preview edition and has Novato ranked 10th in the North Coast team rankings behind Bellarmine, San Leandro, Vallejo, Pittsburgh, Alameda, Piedmont, San Lorenzo, Arroyo and Hogan of Vallejo.

Of the Hornets, Calprep reports: "With 9 lettermen returning, Novato will be out to keep their well earned prestige, although they are expected to travel a rougher road this fall in a very even league. The Hornets will be big, strong and have good depth to go along with a fine offense. Novato is given a slight edge to gather in the honey and the Hornets should repeat with their key performers."

Key man for new coach Al Scott's Hornets, Calprep notes, is "Halfback Frank Perachiotti (5-7, 150), All-League returnee. Tricky runner with good speed and agility. Rarely brought down by one tackler."

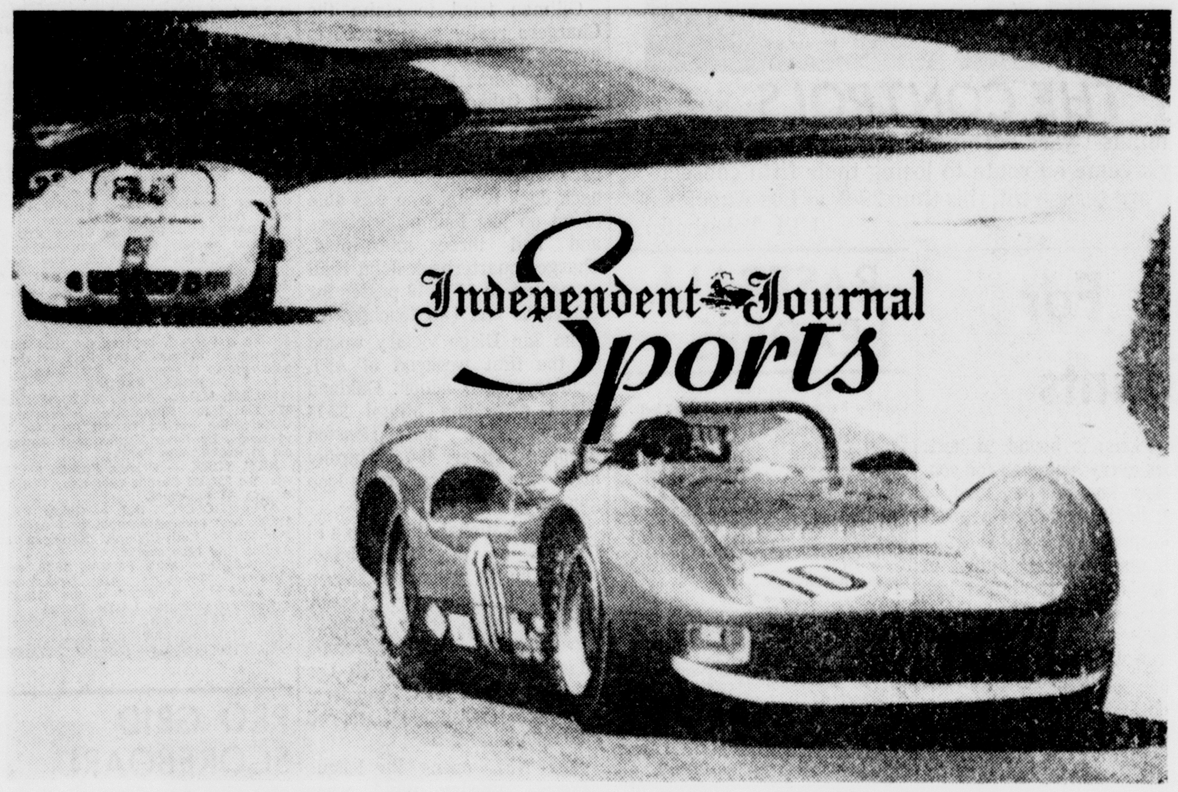
Meanwhile, Hickerson, Drake's 6-1, 253-pound center, has all sorts of advance notice to live up to. Calprep ranks him on its All-State team, saying he is . . . "Extremely tough at this position . . . Plays linebacker on defense . . . plays center as a center should . . . No 'center killer' has yet been able to take him out . . . Able to take punishment and stay in there."

Dipsea Champ Runs Fifth

After winning the recent 6.8 mile Dipsea Race over Mt. Tamalpais, Carl Jensen competed in a "30-kilometer" race at the 101st annual Scottish Gathering and Games at the Santa Rosa Fairgrounds yesterday, and, in spite of officials' error, finished fifth.

The 21-year-old Jensen today informed the Independent-Journal that instead of running the customary four laps around the track, officials erroneously waved the runners on for an addition lap, an error of one and three-eighths miles.

Other Marin A.C. runners entered were Ray Menzie, who notched a sixth place, Bob Bunnell, ninth, and John Noonan, fourteenth.



PARSONS WINS 500-MILE ROAD RACE

Chuck Parsons of Carmel, in car No. 10, rounds the 13th turn after lapping Brooke Doran of Burket, Ind., yesterday in the 500-mile Road America Race near Elkhart Lake, Wis. Parsons averaged 92.879 miles an hour to win the race and also the 1966 American road racing championship. He was driving a McLaren Chevrolet.

JUAN VS. SANDY WEDNESDAY

Giant-Dodger Showdown

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—It'll be Gaylord Perry (20-5) against young Don Sutton (12-11) today in the first of a three-game series between the San Francisco Giants and the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Perry has lost three straight games since scoring his 20th victory on Aug. 20. One of those losses was to Sutton on Aug. 28 at Candlestick Park in San Francisco.

The big series between the two bitter California rivals starts with the Dodgers in second place, two games behind the National League leading Pittsburgh Pirates and a percentage point ahead of the third place Giants.

While the Dodgers and Giants are banging heads here for the next three days the Pirates are at home with the Atlanta Braves. Included in the set was a holiday doubleheader today.

The Dodgers came home on the wings of a four-game victory string while the Giants came to town with a dismal 3-4 road record. Juan Marichal saved them from dropping farther back than they have by beating the St. Louis Cardinals, 9-2, yesterday for his 21st victory against five losses.

As things now stand, Joe Gibbon (4-6) more than likely will pitch against Claude Osteen (14-11) on Tuesday and Marichal will come back on Wednesday against Sandy Koufax (22-8).

The Giants, who had lost three straight, jumped Al Jackson for three unearned runs in the first inning yesterday and kept right on rolling to beat the Cardinals.

Three hits and a pair of errors by former Giant Orlando Cepeda led to the three San Francisco runs in the first and Willie McCovey ripped his 28th homer into the upper deck at new Busch Stadium for a 4-0 lead in the fourth. Tito Fuentes tagged his fifth in the fifth with a mate aboard to put the game on ice.

Three straight St. Louis hits loaded the bases on Marichal in the third but the San Francisco righthander got out of the inning by inducing Curt Flood to hit into a double play.

The Cardinals scored an unearned run off Juan in the fifth as a result of a throwing error by Fuentes and picked up their second run in the sixth on three straight singles.

The Giants padded their lead in the ninth on a two-run double by McCovey and a run-scoring single by Willie Mays.

Marichal was touched for nine hits in all. By winning, he evened his lifetime record against St. Louis at 12-12. The Cards were the only team to hold an edge on Marichal before Sunday's game.

BLEAK OUTLOOK FOR 49ERS; LEAGUE OPENER NEXT WEEK

LOS ANGELES — Seventy-seven passes were thrown but not a touchdown was scored by air.

There were three touchdowns and two of them were on the flukey side.

Sound like a professional football game?

No, but it was as the Los Angeles Rams downed the San Francisco 49ers here Saturday night, 29-9, as both teams closed out their exhibition campaigns

The Rams open the championship schedule at Atlanta against the Falcons next Sunday and the 49ers host the Minnesota Vikings. The Rams were 3-2 for preseason exercises, the 49ers 0-5.

The Rams added the final blow Saturday night to a sad Forty-Niner record by dumping the San Franciscans 29-9 at Memorial Coliseum before a crowd of 39,879.

Neither offensive unit showed any great talent in the touchdown department. The two Ram touchdowns were due to the smashing work of their defensive platoon. The Ram defense men intercepted three John Brodie passes and blocked a punt.

Bruce Gossett kicked five field goals for the Rams at the conclusion of marches which fell short of desired touchdowns.

A brawl broke out in the second quarter when Brodie connected to John David Crow on a pass play good for 64 yards. Crow was run out of bounds on the Ram seven-yard line by Clancy Williams.

In the meantime, at midfield in front of the 49er bench the free-for-all erupted.

Ram defensive end David Jones was engulfed in a sea of red 49er jerseys and San Francisco fullback Lewis took the opportunity to swing a helmet and bop Jones on the head—at least three times according to Jones' account.

The other Ram end, Lamar Lundy, joined the fray and he and Lewis went hind-end over tea kettle on the 49er bench.

OOPS!—Halfback John David Crow of 49ers dropped this pass Saturday night during the team's fifth consecutive exhibition loss—this time a 29-9 decision to the Rams at Los Angeles.

(UPI Telephoto)

Lewis was not in the game at the time. He seemed a little nervous later when he tried to field a Ram punt and fumbled it all the way to the 49er two-yard line. George Youngblood recovered for the Rams. Ram halfback Tom Moore plunged from that point for the first Los Angeles touchdown. Lewis later scored the lone San Francisco touchdown on a five-yard burst through the middle.

In the closing minutes of the second quarter, Ram rookie Bruce Anderson blocked a Tommy Davis punt, picked up the ball and ran 20 yards to a TD.

Jim Norton tackled Ram quarterback Roman Gabriel in the end zone for a safety for San Francisco.

Roman Gabriel, playing the first three quarters, had one of his best games. He completed 16 of 26 for 223 yards, with no interceptions — and no touchdowns.

Brodie, the 49ers' highly paid quarterback, was something less. He was 20 out of 44 in completions for 241 yards, with three interceptions—and no touchdowns.

Bill Munson, Gabriel's replacement, was three out of seven for 25 yards, no interceptions—and no TD's.

Schedule Rugged For Contenders

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

No, Herman, Walter and Harry, Alfred Hitchcock did not make up the final month of the National League schedule. It just seems that way.

The way things are going to break for the top three contenders in the pennant race, their managers may have to keep a careful watch on their sanity. It's going to seem as if there's nobody else in the league.

And, in fact, that's almost the case. Herman Franks' San Francisco Giants, for instance, have 25 games left. Starting today, they play their last three with the Los Angeles Dodgers and then have no less than seven left with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Harry Walker's Pirates, in first place by two games now, face the same situation. Of their last 25 games, three are with the Dodger and then those seven with the Giants.

Walter Alston's Dodgers have it a little better. Or do they? Of 27 contests remaining, three each are with the Giants and Pirates. But Los Angeles also has six games left with Philadelphia, which is in fourth place, and is as hot a club as there is in the league at the moment. The Phillies presently have won five in a row.

In yesterday's action, the Pirates retained their grip on first with an 8-5 victory over Chicago, San Francisco kept pace with a 9-2 pounding of St. Louis and the Dodgers did the same, beating Cincinnati 8-6. The Phillies beat New York 5-0 and Atlanta blanked Houston 2-0.

In the American League, Baltimore took Chicago 8-5, Detroited edged Cleveland 4-3 in 12 innings; Minneapolis bounced New York 9-2, Washington beat California 5-3 and Kansas City trimmed Boston 7-2 after losing 3-0 in the opener of their doubleheader.

The Dodgers send Don Sutton against the Giants' Gaylord Perry today. Los Angeles is now in second place by one percentage point, though both teams are two games back of the Pirates.

The Pirates spotted the Cubs a five-run lead but came back with four in the third and three in the fourth, two on Manny Mota's pinch-hit single.

Jim Lefebvre hit a two-run homer and Tommy Davis chipped in a two-run double, carrying the Dodgers past the Reds. Cincinnati came back with a rally of sorts in the late innings on a three-run homer by Art Shamsky, but it fell short.

Deron Johnson also homered for the Reds.

Chris Short struggled to a 10-hit shutout over the Mets, who threatened often but couldn't score. It was Short's 17 victory.

Crippling Blow For N.Y.'s Grid Giants

NEW YORK (AP) — Tucker Frederickson is out for the season. Maybe the New York Giants are, too.

The Giants, still rebuilding from the dismal 2-10-2 season of 1964, suffered a crippling blow yesterday when fullback Frederickson and linebacker Bill Swain underwent operations for torn ligaments on their left knees.

"This hurts," Giant Coach Allie Sherman said. "We've got a lot of other good young backs, but Frederickson is the one who makes them all go.

"The loss of a player like Frederickson is bound to hurt. He does everything well for you. Everyone knows what kind of runner he is, and he's a great pass blocker."

Both players were injured in Saturday's 37-10 exhibition loss to the Green Bay Packers in Milwaukee. For Frederickson, it was a re-injury of an ailment suffered in practice early in the training season.

He's almost certainly out for the season. Swain, the regular right linebacker, may be back late in the season.

"It's very doubtful for both of them this season," a Giant spokesman said after the surgery by Dr. Anthony Pisani in St. Vincent's Hospital.

"Swain might have the better chance for coming back for the last four or five games. But it's much more difficult for a running back to return, what with all the cutting and stopping he has to do."

Both were key figures in the Giants' revival last season. After winning five of six Eastern Division titles from 1958-63, they plunged to last place in 1964, then started back with a 7-7 season last year.

Swain was acquired from Minnesota early in 1965 and installed as a regular. Frederickson was the Giants' No. 1 draft pick, their rookie of the year, leading ground gainer and No. 6 ground gainer in the league with 659 yards on 195 carries.

Oakland Captures Legion Baseball

ORANGEBURG, S.C. (AP) — Oakland right-hander Joaquin Vargas shackled Tuscaloosa, Ala., on a four-hitter for a 4-1 victory and the American Legion Junior Baseball Championship yesterday.

Vargas scattered four hits while his teammates got to three Alabama pitchers for four runs. It was Vargas' ninth victory against no defeats for the season.

Bill Parker, Alabama left fielder, was selected the tournament's most valuable player.

PRO FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Sweet Revenge: Chargers Rips Bills In AFL Debut

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

Sid Gillman can redecorate his office wall now.

Ever since last December when Gillman's San Diego Chargers lost the American Football League title game to the Buffalo Bills, a newspaper has been hanging on the wall above Gillman's desk with the headline:

"Kemp, Bills humble Chargers, 23-0."

The Chargers opened their AFL season yesterday against those same Bills before a and clobbered Buffalo, 27-7.

Gillman tried to claim the Chargers really weren't out to avenge the loss, saying, "we'd play the same way if we were playing Oshkosh."

But it was obviously a sweet victory for the fired-up Chargers as they throttled quarterback Jack Kemp, who was able to hit on just four of 19 passes and had three intercepted. Charger quarterback John Hadl connected on 14 of 18 passes for 160 yards and two touchdowns.

The San Diego victory wound up the first weekend of AFL regular season action. Oakland edged surprising Miami 23-14 Friday night and Houston whipped Denver, 45-7, Saturday night in the first two loop games.

The National Football League, on the other hand, wound up its exhibition season Saturday night with four games. Green Bay whipped New York, 37-10, Cleveland edged Pittsburgh, 13-10, Los Angeles routed San Francisco, 29-9, and Washington topped Philadelphia, 35-20.

The NFL opens its league season Saturday night when Baltimore meets Green Bay before a national television audience at Milwaukee.

San Diego, which last won the AFL crown in 1963 when it whipped Boston and has lost the title game the past two seasons to Buffalo, took a 7-0 halftime lead when Hadl tossed a seven-yard TD pass to Lance Alworth, the Chargers' gifted flanker.

A pair of field goals by Dick Van Raaphorst boosted the Charger lead to 13-0 midway in the final period when San Diego put the game out of reach.

Houston had little trouble clobbering Denver as ageless George Blanda hit on 13 of 25 passes for 210 yards. Charley Frazier was the leading Oiler receiver with eight catches for 100 yards and three touchdowns.

Denver failed to make a first down during the entire game and got their only touchdown on an 88-yard kickoff return by Goldie Sellers.

Look named the Spartans to the top spot with Notre Dame second and Alabama third. Rounding out the top 10 were Nebraska, UCLA, Arkansas, Baylor, Colorado, Purdue and Syracuse.

Parade named a top three of Michigan State, Alabama and Nebraska. Following, in order, were Arkansas, Notre Dame, UCLA, Syracuse, Michigan, Tennessee, Baylor.

Wosser Yacht First In San Mateo Race

Jake Wosser, San Francisco Yacht Club veteran, led a field of 91 rivals from Sausalito to San Mateo in 3 hours, 17 minutes and 45 seconds Saturday, but earned no better than 48th position on the basis of his corrected time in the handicap race.

Jake's K-40 class sloop Kay Too, the field's scratch boat, handed welcomed handicap to all, including Palo Alto Y.C.'s young Cris Boome, who cashed in on the first place trophy aboard the 30-ton sloop Circe in 2:56.16, corrected.

San Francisco Y.C.'s Dave Imrie was the runner-up in the annual 20-mile race sponsored by the Sausalito Y.C. His 26-foot Golden Gate class Trudy Jane logged a net time of 2:56.46 in winds up to 18 knots.

The field headed back home yesterday in the traditional Barth Trophy Race to Belvedere, but neither Wosser nor Imrie was in the running as Windsong (tillered by Floyd Luther) a 28-foot Richmond Y.C. sloop was the earliest corrected time finisher in a very late race, since capricious winds flashed alternate stop and go breezes over that 20-mile route—from San Mateo to Angel Island.

Windsong took the Class A cup in a corrected time of 4:47.36, with Jim Dowdy's Cal-24 class Sea Duty grabbing the B award on 5:03.41.

Japanese Want Dodger Stars Koufax, Parker

TOKYO (AP)—Officials of the newspaper Yomiuri, sponsors of a 1966 post season Japan exhibition tour by the Los Angeles Dodgers, said today they have written to Dodgers president Walter O'Malley asking that Sandy Koufax and Wes Parker be included in the visiting team.

The letter was sent after Yomiuri officials learned the two Dodger stars had indicated they would not accompany the team to Japan.

But, Yomiuri officials said they would go through with the Dodgers' Japan tour regardless of the makeup of the visiting team.

Tahoe Miss Retires Trophy

MADISON, Ind. (AP) — Mira Slovak and Tahoe Miss have the Governor's Cup in the vault and the 1966 unlimited hydroplane championship almost locked up.

Slovak, a 37-year-old former Czechoslovakian Air Force pilot, beat Miss Lapeer and Warner Gardner of Detroit two out of three heats yesterday. Tahoe Miss retired the trophy on three straight victories, although it was Slovak's first race here. Tahoe Miss won the race the last two years in the hands of Chuck Thompson, who was killed in the Gold Cup race at Detroit July 3.

The 1,100 points Tahoe Miss and Slovak won for two firsts and a second place gave them 6,621 points for the season. They need only 612 points in two more races to clinch the title, even if My Gypsy and Jim Ranger of Grosse Pointe, Mich., win every heat the rest of the way.

My Gypsy and Ranger, picking up 925 points for a first, second and third, moved into second place in the season standings with 4,832 points.

My Gypsy went ahead of Miss Budweiser, damaged at Seattle Aug. 7 and unable to make the field.

Heat Gets To Umpire

CINCINNATI (AP) — Umpire Harry Wendelstedt was forced to leace yesterday's game between Los Angeles and Cincinnati in the seventh inning because of the intense heat and humidity at Crosley Field.

Wendelstedt, the plate umpire, was replaced by third base umpire Doug Harvey.

Drag Racer Dies In Indianapolis Crash

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The national drag racing championships at Indianapolis Raceway Park, clouded by the first fatality in a National Hot Rod Association event since 1959, wind up today with 43 class winners competing for the seven eliminator titles.

James Riley, 30, a sheet metal worker from Garwood, N.J., was killed Sunday when his Class A gas dragster whirled in its own oil and smacked a guardrail at 145 miles an hour. Riley had competed in every national NHRA event since 1960.

Riley's father and two brothers were among the 60,000 spectators who witnessed the accident. The driver's wife and three children were in New Jersey.

It was the third death at the Raceway since the nationals first were scheduled here 12 years ago.

Robert Lindwall, 27, Grays Lake, Ill., was injured in another spinout. His AA fuel dragster swerved out of control at 170 m.p.h. and slid sideways into the grass. Lindwall was listed in satisfactory condition at an Indianapolis hospital.

Although the belt on his supercharged engine broke halfway down the quarter-mile run, Mike Snively of San Bernardino, Calif., won the Class AA fuel drag racing title Sunday for the second straight year.

Snively had a high elapsed time of 9.66 seconds and a speed of 98.36 m.p.h.

John Reed of Decatur, Ga., defeated Gordon Collett, Portsmouth, Ohio, for the AA gas dragster crown.

Don Westerdale of the Detroit Ramchargers had the day's best time and speed—7.31 seconds and 215.18 m.p.h.—on separate runs.

CARLING GOLF

Unlucky 7 Cost Casper $18,000

BIRKDALE, England (UPI) — Seven turned out to be the unlucky number for Billy Casper in the Carling World Golf Championship —to the tune of $18,000.

A 4-to-1 pre-tourney favorite to win the world's richest golf event, Casper lost the $35,000 first prize money by one stroke to Australia's Bruce Devlin and had to be satisfied with the $17,000 second-place prize.

Devlin shot a 69 Saturday to finish with a 286 while Casper finished with an even-par 71 and a 287.

Although he missed a 35-yard chip shot by a yard on the final hole in a bid for a tie, Casper said the turning point came on the seventh hole when he used a seven-iron.

"I hit a seven iron for my second shot and it was one club too much," Casper said, "the ball stopped on the back of the green and it took me three to get down."

Casper said he had a bad second shot on the 10th into a bunker "but otherwise, I didn't make any mistake out there. I played a good game, I have no regrets."

He pointed out that except for the seventh and 10th holes, the only other green he missed was the sixth.

Devlin, two strokes off the pace and a stroke behind Casper going into the final round, birdied four holes including the final one to win. His 35-34 over the 7,037-yard Royal Birkdale course gave him a winning total of four-under-par.

Neil Coles of England shot a three-under-par 70 which gave him 288 for third place and $8,500.

Kel Nagle of Australia, who led by a stroke going into Saturday's play, shot a three-under-par 76 for 291 and was tied for fourth with Harold Henning of South Africa and Roberto DeVicenzo of Argentina at that figure.

Bert Yancy with a final-round 75 was the top U.S. golfer after Casper with 292.

Today is Monday, Sept. 5, the 248th day of 1966 with 117 to follow. Today is Labor Day.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Saturn, Jupiter, Mars and Venus. The evening star is Saturn.

French statesman Cardinal Richelieu was born on this day in 1585.

On this day in history:

In 1774, the first Continental Congress Assembly was held in secret at Philadelphia.

In 1882, 10,000 workmen took part in the first Labor Day parade at New York City.

In 1965, Dr. Albert Schweitzer died at his African hospital in Lambarene, Gabon, at the age of 90. He was world-renowned as a healer of the sick in Africa, clergyman, philosopher, and music scholar.

A thought for the day — American poet Ralph Waldo Emerson said: "Give me health and a day, and I will make the pomp of emporers ridiculous."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Play by Theory or Sure Thing? Question Answered by Champions

Is it "right" to play a hand so as to give yourself the best theoretical chance for success?

Or is the right play the one that works?

The question arose in the final championship in Denver a few weeks ago.

TRICKY BIDDING

Both teams got to six spades by complicated bidding.

Each declarer took the first club trick and cashed the top diamonds to get rid of dummy's losing club.

In the first room, South then led the king of spades to force out the ace.

East returned a club to make dummy ruff, and declarer drew another trump with the queen.

The trumps all fell, so South had no further problems.

If the trumps had broken 3-1 South might have gone down.

At the other table, Paul Levitt, of New Orleans, went down by making the "right" play.

After discarding dummy's losing club Levitt led a heart to dummy's king and returned a trump from dummy.

TAKES ACE

East took the ace of spades and returned a club to make dummy ruff.

Levitt cashed the ace of hearts and ruffed a heart with the queen of spades.

Then he led a low trump toward dummy.

West followed with a low trump, and Levitt had to guess which opponent had the ten of spades. If East had it, the "right" play was to put up dummy's jack.

FINESSE TRY

Levitt actually decided to try a finesse with dummy's nine of spades.

This would be necessary if West had started with 10-x-x of spades.

Levitt would then make the slam and the other declarer's line of play would lose.

As it happened, East defeated the slam by winning with the ten of spades.

"I thought my trumps would be too strong for you," East remarked with a smile.

It was very funny, but not if you happened to be sitting North-South.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention.

This asks partner to bid a major suit if he can.

If partner bids hearts, you will raise to game in hearts.

Otherwise you will go to three notrump at your next turn.

Uranium Returning As Prospectors' Goal

NEW YORK (UPI) —Those 20th century prospectors, armed with Geiger counters rather than pans and pickaxes, may be heading for the hills again soon. Harris, Upham & Co., brokerage firm reports uranium is making a comeback.

After all the fury of prospecting in the mid-1950s, the country ended up with more uranium than it could use. Now technological advances have put nuclear-powered generators on an economical basis. As a result, Harris Upham predicts a new commercial demand for uranium that will outstrip existing supplies.

Harbor Raises Rent On Hughes 'Spruce Goose'

LONG BEACH (AP)—Howard Hughes' Spruce Goose—a 400,000-pound "flying lumberyard" that flew only once—has had its rent raised.

Hughes built the plywood seaplane for $18 million of government money and a couple million of his own. It had a wing span of 320 feet and was designed to hold 700 soldiers.

In 1947 Hughes flew it one mile at an altitude of 70 feet. It has been docked ever since.

The harbor commission yesterday gave it a new three-year lease and raised its annual rent from $22,719 to $34,719.

The seaplane is inside a guarded waterfront hangar leased from the commission by Hughes Tool Co., owned exclusively by Hughes.

Minnesota Biggest Wild Rice Producer

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — Minnesota is by far the biggest producer of wild rice, which grows principally in the state's northern wilderness area.

The 1956 Minnesota crop of 3.9 million pounds was the largest on record. Ontario, second largest producer, has an average annual production of 300,000 pounds.

Local Governments Also Feeling Lending Squeeze

By PETER S. NAGAN
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Home-building is getting all the sympathy these days as the principal victime of tight money. But it is not the only victim. State and local governments are finding that their spending programs are also being curbed for lack of credit.

Hardly a week goes by without a fistful of reports of postponements of bond issues by states, counties, cities, school and water districts, and other "subsidiary" government units.

Some offerings do not even reach the public eye, because officials never bother to schedule them in the first place. They know that they wouldn't be able to get the money they want without paying forbiddingly high rates of interest — rates their voters will be paying for decades to come.

The lack of money means that many much-needed public projects simply will not be built this year or next. Or if they will, they will proceed on a smaller scale than originally planned or only a section at a time.

In some cases, the local governments can at least begin, with tax money or with temporary borrowings. But in state after state, construction of hospitals, schools, libraries, and highways must now be delayed. The unhappy part of this is that many such projects are long overdue because, in too many cases, expansion of needed facilities was allowed to lag too far behind population growth.

The trouble stems from the gradual reduction in the stream of credit that has been engineered for more than a year by the Federal Reserve Board, the nation's credit-controllers in Washington. The "Fed" has been trying to check inflation by seeing to it that too many dollars are not chasing the vast but still limited amounts of goods and services the U.S. economy is producing.

When there isn't enough money around to satisfy anyone's prosperity - swollen wants, someone must do without. Classically, it is home-building that gets hit first and hardest. Mortgages do not pay as well as business loans in times of high interest rates. They are also cumbersome to handle and tie up money for long periods.

State and local bonds also take a back seat to business loans when such loans are available to lenders in the enormous volume being requested today. Because of the tax-exemption feature, the obligation of states and local governments carry a lower rate of interest. This tends to appeal largely to banks, casualty insurance companies, and individuals in the higher tax brackets.

In recent years, the commercial banks have been the biggest buyers. In the early '60s, they bought more than two-thirds of the $8 to $10 billion in new tax-exempt bonds that were issued in some years.

But now that business loans can absorb all the banks' free funds, the banks have stopped buying "municipals." This sudden decline in demand, in the face of a continued heavy supply of such offerings, has sent interest rates on such bonds climbing.

You can now get 4¼ per cent ont a tax-exempt bond issued by a city with the highest credit rating. A man in the 39 per cent tax bracket would have to get 6.97 per cent on a taxable investment—say, a common stock—to do as well. A less well-known community would have to pay as much as 5 per cent, which Inkster, Mich., did last week on a school-bond issue.

The high rates have attracted many individuals who have never bought tax-exempt bonds before. But there still aren't enough of these buyers to absorb as many issues as the state and local governments would like to sell. To complicate matters, the banks are selling some of the tax-exempt bonds they bought in past years, in order to get more money to lend to business.

Many local governments have legal limits on the rate they can pay on bonds. In most of these cases, the going market rate already exceeds these limits. These governments are therefore automatically barred from selling bonds.

The situation seems likely to get worse before it gets better. The end of tight money period is not yet in sight. State and local government officials will be applying increasingly heavy pressure on their congressmen in Washington to do something. But no relief action seems likely this year.

Gasoline Taxes Net $100 Billion Income

NEW YORK (UPI) —American motorists paid an estimated $100 billion in state and federal motor fuel taxes from the time the first levy was enacted in 1919 up to July 1, 1966, says Oil Facts, publication of the American Petroleum Institute.

With collections running about $20.5 million a day, the cumulative total is expected to reach $104 billion by the end of 1966, the publication says, citing figures of the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads.

We Resolve TO BRING TO THE PEOPLE OF MARIN
LOW PRESCRIPTION PRICES

The high drug costs of today are a serious money problem to many families, especially to those with fixed income and those with chronic illnesses. As a solution to this problem we apply modern methods to the prescription department by selling at low prices, thus producing volume sales. This decreases costs and overhead. The result will be low prices for you, and we believe a low cost prescription service is just what the public wants.

HERE'S WHY WE CAN DO IT:

1. We have reduced our overhead by closing at 6:00 p.m. every day—a saving which we pass on to you.
2. We own our building and parking lot—there is no rent to pay — a saving which we pass on to you.
3. Ours is a self-service store—serve yourself and save—a saving which we pass on to you.
4. We do a big business—we buy in big volume, thus we buy at a lower cost—a saving which we pass on to you.
5. We buy from a discount-store wholesaler in San Francisco (the only drug store in Marin having this privilege). Again we buy at a lower cost—a saving which we pass on to you.
6. Our employees have all been with us many years—they are happy here and they try harder—thus a saving by efficient operation—a saving which we pass on to you.
7. In many drug stores the profit from the prescription department carries the "front end" of the store—not so at JACK'S. We do a big volume of business in the "front end" of our store—stop in to see our low prices and great variety of merchandise and you will understand why—another saving which we pass on to you.
8. Last but not least, we just plain take a smaller mark-up on merchandise and on prescriptions—a saving which we pass on to you.

We MEET or BEAT any prescription price. We will NOT be undersold

We can refill any refillable prescription regardless of where it was originally filled. We will be happy to call your physician for his authorization.

INSIDERS NOTE: "The Pill" costs very little at JACK'S.

Attention Focusses On Boating Industry

Recreational boating and yachting is becoming big business in Marin County.

A weeklong "Marine Holiday," which is being sponsored in San Rafael beginning tomorrow, gives the growing boating industry the recognition and attention it deserves.

Examine recent issues of the Independent-Journal's special boating editions and you get an idea of the economic impact that recreational boating has on the county. The boating directory lists more than three pages of business firms which derive income from this expanding "industry."

Twenty years ago, perhaps a thousand small craft were moored in the county. Today more than 5,000 boats representing an assessed value of nearly four million dollars are registered in Marin.

At the end of World War II, San Rafael Canal had only a trickle of recreational boating activity. The canal was still utilized to a considerable degree for shipment of commercial and industrial goods.

Several oil companies maintained distributing facilities along the waterfront and were supplied by barges. Construction and building supplies also came over water in substantial quantities.

It was painful over the years to watch commercial and industrial use decline and almost disappear. At the same time, it has been encouraging to see the rise in recreational boating and yachting. The value of this new business now must greatly exceed the value of the earlier and now almost forgotten commercial use of the waterway.

In the days when San Rafael was fighting a losing battle to promote expanded commercial use of the canal, the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce maintained a very active harbor development committee to lead the fight. As the commercial and industrial importance declined, the Chamber lost heart and the committee was dissolved.

For reasons we find difficult to understand, the San Rafael business community never seemed to exert the same enthusiastic effort toward cooperating with and promoting recreational boating and yachting on the San Rafael waterfront.

But all this may now be in the process of changing. San Rafael Junior Chamber and the Greater San Rafael Chamber of Commerce are sponsoring the "Marine Holiday" festival tomorrow through Sunday, Sept. 6 through 11.

The big day on the Canal is Saturday, Sept. 10, which will feature free boat rides, skin diving and marine demonstrations, yacht parade, and fireworks at night. Other events are scattered throughout the week, from downtown San Rafael, Northgate mall, Albert Park, canal area, and a Sunday golf tournament at Peacock Gap.

We commend the two chambers for recognizing the importance of recreational boating and yachting and sponsoring the festival to promote this activity.

We hope that this is only a forerunner of greater cooperative effort between the downtown business community and our waterfront industry.

The Most Dangerous Animal

A large mirror hangs on the wall of the Great Ape House of the Bronx Zoo. Beneath it is a sign which reads, "You are looking at the most dangerous animal in the world. It alone of all the animals that ever lived can exterminate (and has) entire species of animals."

It is a sad commentary that in this year of 1966, after centuries of exhortation and example, man is still pressing hard on Nature. The most destructive creature that ever lived, man's depredations make Tyrannosaurus rex look like a puppy dog.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Legislative Hassle Expected Over Minimum Speed Proposal

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The California Legislature, which has argued for years over the maximum speed on California highways, is likely to get in a new hassle when the 1967 session opens over minimum speeds.

Over a long period of years, the present speed limit in the state, which is now 65 miles per hour (except in designated sections of freeway, where it is 70 miles per hour, has been more than doubled.

Speed limits increased as automobiles were engineered to travel faster and as roads changed from two lanes of gravel to the modern freeway.

BUT NEVER in the history of the state has there been any minimum speed at which the motorist must travel or be subject to citation. The closest thing to a minimum speed law is the authorization for traffic officers to cite drivers who constitute a menace by proceeding at "too leisurely" a pace in the fast or passing lanes of a freeway or highway.

Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-Marin, was responsible for this move to control the slow driver. McCarthy now comes up with proposals to post all major freeways with signs designating minimum speeds in each lane.

Whether the Marin solon's proposals would have any legal effect or not is a question at the present time, but if such action were taken, it is apparent freeway travel not only would be improved, but also a safety factor would be added.

IT IS SOMEWHAT ironic that motorists have been educated for years concerning the dangers of speeding automobiles, and now find out that driving too slow constitutes almost as much of a danger as driving too fast.

But this is exactly the picture, says Senator McCarthy, who would, in addition to posting minimum speed limits, require that driver education courses stress the danger of slow driving on freeways.

Many other states, interstate travelers report, have posted minimum speed signs, and the senator believes California is lax in not following suit on this subject.

FREEWAY USERS admit his legislation concerning slow driving has done much good in educating the motorist to the dangers involved. Under the law, however, there is no fixed minimum, so if a court case did result from a citation, the decision would depend on the judgment of the arresting officer, as to whether the motorist constituted a danger or not.

Some drivers contend the law is one of the biggest boons yet to freeway driving, especially where traffic is not too heavy, as it permits uninterrupted travel at maximum speeds, at least until a slow driver gets in the way.

"The slow-poke driver who insists on hogging the fast lanes of a freeway," says McCarthy, "constitutes one of the worst menaces to traffic safety today, and it is time drastic steps were taken to curtail this sort of rude and dangerous action."

Despite minimums in other states, McCarthy says slow driving is a national, as well as a California problem.

Writer Remembers Past Happenings

Editor, Independent-Journal:

President Johnson is now doing real service in attacking North Viet Nam. There was a time when, striving for negotiation, the administration fought not vigorously; they declined to use "heavy artillery."

(One might remember that never should a war be fought softly; a soft blow is a pitiful thing.)

North Viet Nam's reply was a sneer; de Gaulle merely told the American soldiers to "go home."

When France was destroyed by Hitler, France became a "Hitler Colony"; Paris was in Hitler's possession.

About this time we loaned to France — two billion dollars . . . A few years later President Kennedy forgave this enormous debt; de Gaulle simply forgot this item.

We remember Russia: But for our arms, our equipment, our planes, Russia would have been annihilated by Germany. Meanwhile, Russia has vigorously served North Viet Nam.

I entirely approve what the President is now doing to North Viet Nam.

Questions, Answers On Senior Housing

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Several questions about low-rent housing for the elderly have recently been raised. Here are some answers that may help to clear up some of the misunderstanding.

Do we need housing for low income elderly now, since the 1965 housing law provides rent subsidies?

Yes. When Congress approved rent subsidies, there were 500,000 people on the waiting list for low-rent housing. Rent supplements are an addition to, not a substitute for, other measures that aim for decent housing for all our people. The same law also covers urban renewal, mortgage insurance, housing for low-income aged people, rural housing and many other facets of the same problem.

Why doesn't Marin abandon low-rent housing for the elders in favor of subsidized rentals?

There ain't no such animal—rent-supplement housing is still in the paper-work stage in Marin. Also, public housing units will pay for themselves out of rents over the 40-year mortgage period. The county, through its Housing Authority, will eventually own the property. The rent-supplement plan is a leasing arrangement; ownership remains in private hands.

Why does the Homestead Valley project call for 30 units on ¾ acre, while the Santa Venetia project has only 36 units on 2 acres?

Land costs more in Homestead. When the federal government lends money for housing projects, it limits the amount you can spend for land for each unit constructed. A square foot of land in the Homestead site cost well over three times that at Santa Venetia.

If Michael Praszker said all those "odd" things about the Homestead project, why aren't they in the Planning Commission minutes?

Minutes are brief summaries of discussion. For the full flavor and aroma of individual comments, you have to go to the transcripts. There you will find Mr. Praszker calling the project "a Trojan horse," "an invasion," "a rape of the community," where poor people will be concentrated in "a poorhouse."

Unions Responsible For Economic Plight

Editor, Independent-Journal:

If I heard the news correctly, the plumbers are due for another raise which will be annually.

I would like to know how you justify high wages which you are getting. Do you have a high overhead like buying your own wrenches or something?

The unions are responsible to a great degree for the precarious condition our economy is in and the plumbers union is right up there at the top.

I think I might just float right down the street before I ever call a plumber again.

In the end you will also pay for this (I hope).

I really think that most of us are getting pretty sick of unions, strikes and pickets.

Seashore Editorial Much Appreciated

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I have just had the pleasure of reading the editorial which appeared in the Aug. 26 Independent-Journal. This is an excellent piece of writing and it presents a accurate picture of the situation at Point Reyes National Seashore. I particularly appreciate the complimentary references to our experimental program of conducted trips and other interpretive offerings which we have started this season. These activities have been well received and we plan to put them on a regularly scheduled basis for the coming season.

We are most appreciative for your interest and for the support of the Independent-Journal for Point Reyes National Seashore.

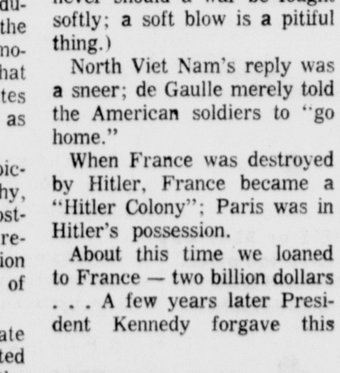
BENNETT CERF

BOOK DEDICATIONS are usually pretty solemn affairs, but occasionally an author does dream up a funny one. Franklin P. Adams' classic in the field reads "To My Loving Wife—but for whose constant interruptions this book would have been finished six months sooner." Inez McEwen dedicated one of her books to "William Craig, my infant grandson, the only gent on whom I've ever been able to pin anything."

The late Mark Hellinger went so far as to dedicate one collection of his stories to the head of the bargain basement of his favorite department store "for designing underwear which doesn't bind an author while seated faithfully before his typewriter."



MACPHERSON HAD just attended his son's wedding at the little chapel in Gleneagles, and now he took the young bridegroom aside to slip him a rabbit's foot. "Always keep this in your pants pocket, lad," he counseled. "What for?" asked the son. "Because," said MacPherson solemnly, "every time your dam' wife sticks her hand in, she'll think it's a mouse."

QUICKIES:

They've designed a new automobile intended only for bucking rush-hour traffic in Long Island. It's called a stationary wagon.

There's a famous publisher in New York who goes in for purple shirts, yellow ties, and magenta pants. He's in a clash by himself.

U Thant Got Fed Up With U.N.; Swan Song Expresses Bitterness

WASHINGTON (AP) — U Thant is a believer in Buddhism, which counsels patience and peace. But he finally got fed up.

That's simple English for the 1,000-word statement he issued Thursday to explain why, after five years as secretary-general of the United Nations, he does not want to continue in that post after his term is up Nov. 3.

In many ways it is an impossible job, which is what one of his predecessors, Trygve Lie, called it, even though it pays $65,000 a year.

His statement was a frank and, in part, a bitter complaint that the 117-member organization had fallen far short of the U. N. Charter's opening promise to maintain "peace and security" in the world.

HIS BLUNTNESS was part of his make-up for, as he once explained, although "diplomacy demands honeyed words, I am not a believer in honeyed words."

Yet, Thant, 57, was a bit of a nobody to the rest of the world when he was unanimously chosen U. N. secretary-general in 1961 to succeed the brilliant Dag Hammarskjold, killed in a plane crash shortly before.

In his native Burma he had been a schoolteacher, a government public relations man, diplomat, a member of the Burmese U. N. delegation in 1952, and finally head of the delegation.

Burma, on Red China's doorstep and caught between the pressures of East and West, tried to be neutral, like Hammarskjold's Sweden, Thant was neutral, too, but he took this position:

A NEUTRAL WHO truly tried to serve the United Nations should be an active neutral. And he was an outspoken one, a condition which didn't endear him to everyone.

WHEN HE BECAME secretary-general in 1961 there was a lot of wondering whether the inconspicuous Thant, who wore subdued, $150 suits, could fill the shoes of the widely respected Hammarskjold.

Now many rank him with the Swede in ability and achievement.

In his statement Thursday Thant called the world situation "extremely serious" and went on about Viet Nam: "The cruelty of this war, and the suffering it has caused the people of Viet Nam, are a constant reproach to the conscience of humanity."

He said the pressure of events is "leading remorselessly towards a major war" while the U. N. members have failed in the kind of "cooperative effort" necessary for decisive progress towards peace.

Senate May Shelve Civil Rights Measure

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — There is a very real possibility that the House-passed civil rights bill will not get out of the Senate.

As of now, this measure is headed for eventual shelving.

The Administration presently does not have the votes to impose cloture, two-third of those on hand. Without cloture or an agreement to permit action, the bill has no chance of getting anywhere. The Senate, slated to take it up this week, will be tied up with it for at least the rest of the month.

The Administration is doubly vulnerable on this legislation.

Not only is it unable to muster enough support to invoke cloture, but it also doesn't have the votes to win approval for Title IV, the crucially decisive open housing provision.

Even the House's watered-down version is still short of a majority.

A BACKSTAGE head-count by the Administration disclosed that eight Republican votes are necessary to put over Title IV. With Senator Everett Dirksen, Ill., GOP floor leader, continuing to insist he is flatly against any housing section on the ground it would be unconstitutional, the prospects for gaining the vital Republican backing are dim.

In fact, they are not promising even if Dirksen should change his mind—as he did on the public accommodations section of the 1964 civil rights bill and thereby broke the Southern filibuster.

Senior Republicans such as Senators Bourke Hickenlooper, Iowan, and Roman Hruska, Nebr., leaders in their own right with personal followings, are just as adamant against open housing as Dirksen claims to be, and might refuse to go along if he flip-flops. They have gone their own way before, and could do so again.

Both Hruska and Hickenlooper have made no secret of their outrage at outbreaks of Negro violence, looting and lawlessness in their states.

CROSSFIRE — While Democratic and Republican opponents of open housing are menacing the chances of the civil rights measure, its fate is also being threatened by a bipartisan die-hard group on the other side of the fence.

They are saying they want all-out open housing, or no bill at all.

Foremost in this group are Senators Philip Hart, D-Mich., Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and Jacob Javits, R- N.Y.

If they really hold to this stand, that's exactly what may happen.

LONG - OVERDUE CRACK - DOWN—Definitely slated to be another stormy issue in this explosive Senate battle is a demand for legislation aimed at the growing insurrection in the streets of the nation's cities—rioting, burning, looting and even killing in the name of civil rights.

So far, little has been said publicly by senators about the need for effective measures to enforce law and order, but privately there is strong bipartisan feeling that such deliberate violence is not only criminal but outright rebellion.

There has been much backstage conferring on how best to strike at this spreading evil. Amendments for that purpose will be offered. Their nature cannot be disclosed at this time. The aim will be to go further and hit harder than the amendment sponsored by Representative William Cramer, R-Fla., and approved by the House.

It strikes at the inciting of outbreaks by individuals crossing state lines.

A powerful factor in the mounting feeling among senators that a halt must be called to this sinister situation are the incendiary statements of Stokely Carmichael and other "black panther" and "black power" leaders. Certain to be cited in the coming Senate debate is Carmichael's defiant statement, "I don't know what they think they will accomplish by building stores with no wondows. It just means we'll have to move from Molotov cocktails to dynamite."

NOTE: REAL POWER behind Carmichael, 24-year-old native of the West Indies, is James Forman, 38, former Chicago schoolteacher who has masterminded most of SNCC's operations. It was Forman who early this year deposed John Lewis as head of SNCC because he balked at going along on the "black panther" and "black power" strategy. Forman stays in the background, but he is the real ruler of SNCC. He turns on and turns off Carmichael and other militants.

Looking Backward At Labor Day May End Up In Bang Or Nonbang

Happy Nonlabor Day.

That's what it is, you know. No one can show me any logic in calling a holiday a labor day.

OF COURSE, some of you in the back row might try to put up an argument founded on the philosophy of anti-matter. This is the think-line that says everything has an opposite.

If there is matter, then there is also anti-matter. If there is Labor Day, then there is also Nonlabor Day.

Where this anti-world exists has been one of the puzzles of our time, but today, as we celebrate Labor Day by not working, we must be passing very close to the mysterious sphere.

PRAGMATISTS might argue that anti-matter really doesn't matter, but they would be wrong.

The rumor is that physicists have actually created anti-matter. The burden of proof weighs heavy here because all this has been going on inside cyclotrons and you can't get in without a pass. Even senators have to wait out in the hallway.

It used to be that physicists were taken with a pinch of salt, but after that loud cadenza that ended World War II, we have all learned that rubbing two physicists together can be dangerous.

ACCORDING to second hand reports, the things inside anti-matter are spinning around in the opposite direction from the things inside matter. So you see, it is quite a serious thing.

When matter and anti-matter come together there is a loud bang. This probably explains why we have had no eyewitness reports on the phenomenon.

The philosophy of anti-matter, if properly applied, could make someone a mint in the commercial world.

FOR INSTANCE, there is recently on the market a pill called "reprieve" for the cure of the common hangover. It is a Marin creation, by the way. I mean the pill. Hangovers, they tell me, can occur almost anywhere.

Now applying the anti-matter philosophy to the same problem, ie, hangovers, one would concoct a pill that would cause a hangover and then be very careful each evening to avoid taking it.

"George, remember not to take your pill."

"THANKS, DEAR. I'll not take it right now."

That would be the conversation each evening in homes throughout the land. Think of the money you could make if you cornered the market on a pill like that.

Why someone doesn't get on this idea right now, this very instant, and start pushing, is a mystery to me.

I suppose the answer is that today is Labor Day. Nobody works at anything, at least not trying to produce hangovers—with pills.

ART BUCHWALD

Julia Ward Howe Didn't Squawk When The Band Marched Below

WASHINGTON — The Veterans of Foreign Wars held a parade in New York City last week along Fifth Avenue from five o'clock in the afternoon until midnight, and much to their surprise they discovered that, instead of being cheered, many residents complained about the noise.

THE VFW, which was holding its convention in America's leading "fun" city, read into the complaints an un-American plot and demanded the names of all those who called in.

Commander-in-Chief Andy Borg of Superior, Wisconsin, said every resident of Fifth Avenue should have been on the sidewalks cheering Tuesday night, "instead of being upstairs in their beds," and it was time Paul Revere rode down Fifth Avenue and awakened the country to its greatest danger since 1776.

BUT IT was left to Vice Adm. Leland Lovett (ret.) to provide us with the most telling argument in favor of the late night VFW parade. He told a story that Julia Ward Howe had been awakened by the tramp of Federal troops down Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington during the Civil War.

"She did not call city hall," Adm. Lovett said. "Instead she was inspired to write the lyrics of the 'Battle Hymn of the Republic.'"

I was rather skeptical of Adm. Lovett's statement, so I went down to the Library of Congress to check up on it, and, sure enough, he was right. This is exactly what happened.

MISS HOWE was in bed in her apartment overlooking Pennsylvania Avenue, trying to get some sleep, when she heard an Army band beneath her window and the sound of troops marching on the cobblestones.

Her mother, who was trying to sleep in the next room, came in and said, "This is ridiculous. I'm going to the city hall and complain."

Julia reached for a pencil and pad. "Wait, Mother, I think I hear something."

"I should hope you would. No one can sleep around here."

"Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord," Julia started to sing.

"Are you sick, child?" her mother said anxiously.

"He was trampling down the vineyard where the grapes of wrath are—are . . . oh Mother, what rhymes with Lord?"

"BORED, GORED, ford, hoard, stored."

"That's it. Now let's see. 'He has loosed the fearful lightning of His terrible swift' . . . give me a word that rhymes with stored."

"How about sword?"

"I'll leave it until I can think of something better."

Julia's mother said angrily, "They just seem to be marching on. I'm going to call the police."

"Marching on? Of course, why didn't I think of it. His truth keeps marching on. Now I need a chorus."

"Why don't you stop that silly songwriting and worry about your poor old mother."

"I CAN'T help it. There is something inspiring about the tramp of boots."

"Glory, hallelujah! Is that the kind of daughter I raised?"

"What did you say, mother?" Julia cried excitedly.

"I said, 'Is that the kind of daughter I raised?'"

"No, the first part."

"I said, 'glory hallelujah.'"

"Mother, that's my chorus!"

"Julia, I wish you'd give up this crazy idea of writing songs. You know they'll never sell."

Crash Bodies Found At Tahoe

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE (AP) —The bodies of four members of a Culver City family, killed when their plane crashed on a westward flight over the Sierra Nevada, have been brought to a South Lake Tahoe mortuary.

The bodies of Gerald Konblett, 41, his wife Annette, 38, and their two children Gary, 17, and Deborah, 13, were flown here yesterday by helicopter.

The family had been the object of a search since Tuesday when their single engine Cessna was missed on a flight from Tahoe Valley airport to Vacaville.

They were located by Civil Air Patrol searchers Saturday on the side of Round Mountain nine miles south of here.

On both these days there will be free pleasure trips on the water as well as special exhibitions and

Beer Drinkers Lead Tiny Tot Guzzlers

NEW YORK (UPI) —Babies take second place only to beer drinkers in the bottle and jar business. They are the glass container industry's No. 2 customer, accounting for about 3 billion food jars a year, says the Glass Container Manufactuers Institute.

But the glass manufacturers ship more than 5 billion new bottles a year to keep pace with the nation's beer drinkers, the institute reports.

Computer Studies Big Snow Storms

WEST LONG BRANCH, N.J. (UPI)—A computer company is simulating snow to help the Army's Cold Regions Laboratory in Hanover, N.H., learn how to keep its cold weather outposts from being engulfed by heavy snowfalls.

The snow simulated by Electronic Associates, Inc., is not the snowflake of American wintertime, but rather the spherical snow pellets such as fall in the frigid zones. Since melting is impossible in the extreme cold of these regions, accumulations of snow eventually engulf buildings and equipment. The analog computer's job is to mathematically recreate the behavior pattern of this snow so that buildings can be designed to prevent snow entrapment.

Boat Parade Set For Saturday

San Rafael canal will be a feast of color Saturday for the spectacular decorated boat parade which climaxes the marine events of the San Rafael Jaycees' Autumn Festival.

Bedecked boats will gather at 7 p.m. at the mouth of the canal and proceed up the waterway to the turning basin.

Awards will be given for the best holiday theme, most unique design, best overall decoration and the most representation from a yacht club.

Spectators can view the mammoth parade anywhere along the canal but the Jaycees suggest the best place will be a vacant lot east of 400 Canal Street.

Grand finale of the parade will be a giant display of fireworks launched near the mouth of the canal at 9:15 p.m.

Gadget For Fun Helps Retarded

UNION GROVE, Wis. (AP)—A device that amused more than a million children at the New York World's Fair has a new career ahead—helping mentally retarded youngsters.

The Wisconsin State Welfare Board has accepted a donation of the "fun machine" that was featured in the Johnson Wax pavilion at the fair, for use in the Southern Colony and Training School here.

It is a walk-through, maze-like toy in which children manipulate cranks and buttons to activate noisemakers, surprise mechanisms and a variety of gears.

A school spokesman said the machine is expected to "excite interest and brings out latent ability in patients who tend to be apathetic and phlegmatic."

Fun In, On San Rafael Water Theme Of Autumn Festival

Fun in and on the water around San Rafael will be the theme for the third annual Autumn Festival presented this week by the San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

Under the title "Marine Holiday," the festival will spotlight the city's fast growing marine facilities in six days of events aimed at bargain hunters and fun seekers.

Tuesday: Celebrations will be kicked off with a "Moonlight Sale" held in downtown San Rafael from 7 to 10 p.m.

Stores will close as usual at 6 p.m. and re-open at 7 p.m. with special sale tags on many items. Shoppers can take part in a free raffle for pairs of tickets to the San Francisco Giants double-header scheduled for Sunday.

At 9 p.m. the "Marine Holiday Queen" will be crowned in front of the County Courthouse. The lucky girl will receive a $200 fall wardrobe from Modern Eve and reign supreme over the week-long activities.

Wednesday: Talented amateur entertainers will put on a show in Albert Field from 7 to 10 p.m. This will be the eliminating round and winners will appear in the "Autumn Festival Spectacular" Friday together with top recording artists.

Thursday: The popular James Bros. Circus, sponsored by the San Rafael Jaycees, will present two performances, 4 p.m. and 8 p.m., at Northgate Industrial Park. Proceeds will go to the Jaycees' youth and sports program, which includes the Junior Golf Tournament.

Friday: The festival gets into full swing as activities open on the San Rafael canal. Starting at 10 a.m., free rides up and down the canal will be given aboard pleasure craft.

An exciting skin diving exhibition will be given by Stan's Skin Diving Club of San Rafael between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. at the yacht club.

In the evening, a spectacular show will be persented at Albert Field with the popular recording group "We Five" headlining the program.

Also making an appearance will be "Sing Out '66," a group of 77 youngsters aged from 11 to 18 years who have already delighted audiences in Northern California with their enthusiasm and moving songs.

To complete the program, finalists in the amateur talent show will compete for the top award.

Saturday: Activities continue on San Rafael canal while new ones begin at the Northgate Shopping Center. The organizers have named Saturday "Northgate Day."

Beginning at noon, there will be a free hot dog and soft drink feed and children will have their day at a Fish Pond Derby from 1 to 1:30 p.m. when "Sing Out '66" will present a program at the mall.

During the afternoon, a drawing will be held at the center to determine the winners of a color television set and a portable set. To take part in the drawing, a shopper must deposit a coupon, clipped from Autumn Festival advertising, in boxes available at most San Rafael merchants throughout the festival.

Marine activities will climax Saturday night with a spectacular decorated boat parade on the canal. Grande finale will be a giant display of fireworks launched near the mouth of the canal at 9:15 p.m.

Sunday: The first annual San Rafael Open Golf Tournament, sponsored by the San Rafael Jaycees, is scheduled at the Peacock Gap Country Club.

UCLA Working On New Stronger Ceramic Process

LOS ANGELES—A process for strengthening ordinary ceramics to support eight times their usual breaking load and to stand up under extreme sudden heat has been developed in a UCLA engineering laboratory.

The research by Professors Francis R. Shanley and William J. Knapp points to a host of likely new uses for ceramics, ranging from nose cones for missiles to pre-fabricated ceramic houses.

In a series of tests, the UCLA engineers used a compression process called "Pre-stressing" by applying 10,000 pounds of pressure per square inch along the width and length of a common brittle tile.

For laboratory purposes, the compression force was furnished by two hydraulic jacks, each of which exerted 30 tons of pressure against the edge of the square six-inch tile. A third hydraulic jack, pushing from below, tested the load-bearing strength of the compressed tile.

Results of the experiments showed that brittle ceramics are eight to ten times stronger under compression than in tension; that is, they can support much heavier loads without cracking when their particles are pushed together.

The same process also keeps ceramics from cracking under the thermal shock of sudden heating and from shattering into pieces, even if loaded beyond capacity.

Ceramics could be used to make strong, lightweight, decorative, fireproof, and earthquake resistant buildings, and find other uses in bridges, roadpaving, and airport runways.

Marine Patrol Boats Assist Law Enforcers

The decorated boat parade on San Rafael canal, which will highlight the Autumn Festival Saturday, will be helped along smoothly by five patrol boats of the Marin County Sheriff's Marine Patrol.

The marine patrol, under Capt. Chuck Yancey, is composed by 35 deputized citizens.

To help enforce safety, law and order afloat, they furnish the county — and on request its cities and towns — with boats and equipment.

Directors and liaison officers of this unit are Sheriff's Insp. Bowen Bridges and Deputy Ray Tchirgi.

Venezuela Highways Best On Continent

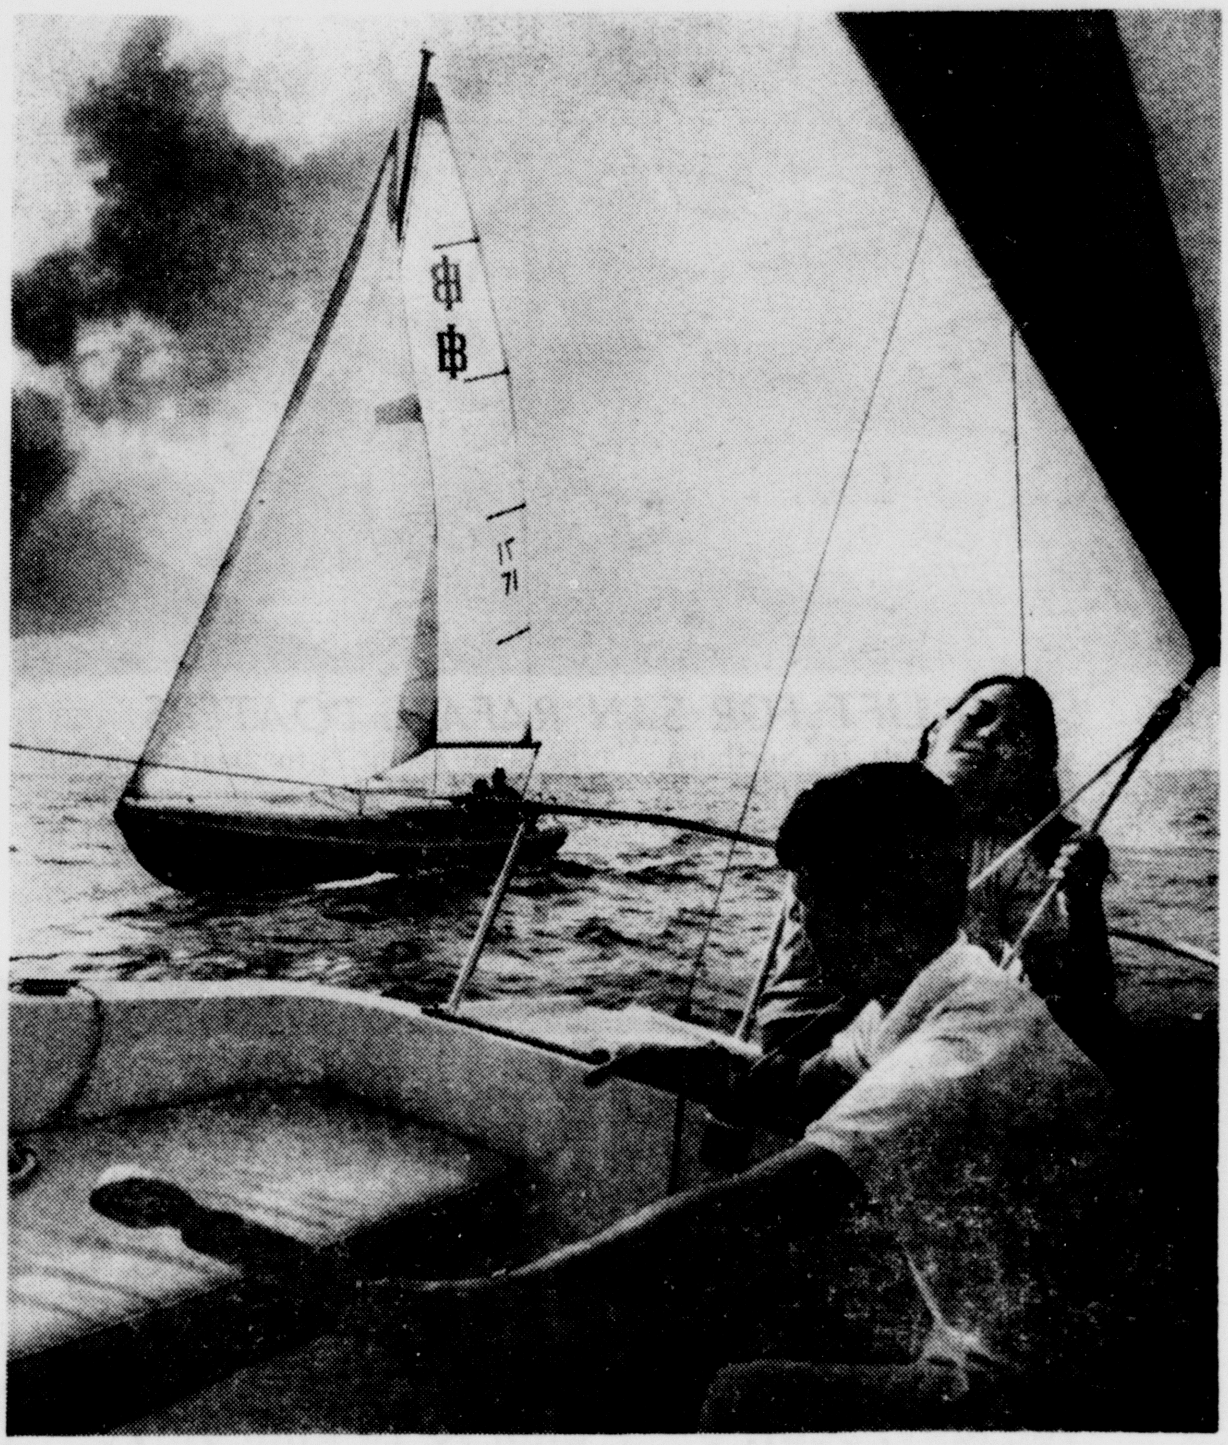
CARACAS (UPI)—Venezuela's highway network, considered one of the most complete in Latin America, runs about 20,000 miles from one end of the country to the other.

More than half of these roads —11,000 miles—are paved highways. The national road network is made up of 16 trunk highways which tie into one another and connect all parts of the country.

Pawnbroker Patrons Need Money Quickly

NEW YORK (UPI)—Most people who borrow money from pawnbrokers are of the middle-income and professional groups who desire temporary or emergency financial aid, according to the New York Pawnbrokers Information Bureau.

Such borrowers, says the bureau, might include a housewife who has exceeded her budget; a company executive who needs funds to entertain an unexpected customer, or even a wealthy matron who, before taking an extended trip, wants some extra cash and a safe place for her furs, jewelry or silverware.



BEAUTY AFLOAT — Among the many craft in the boat parade on the San Rafael Canal featuring the Fall Festival will be a 29-foot Islander fiberglass sail boat like those in this picture, entered by Bud Lowrie.

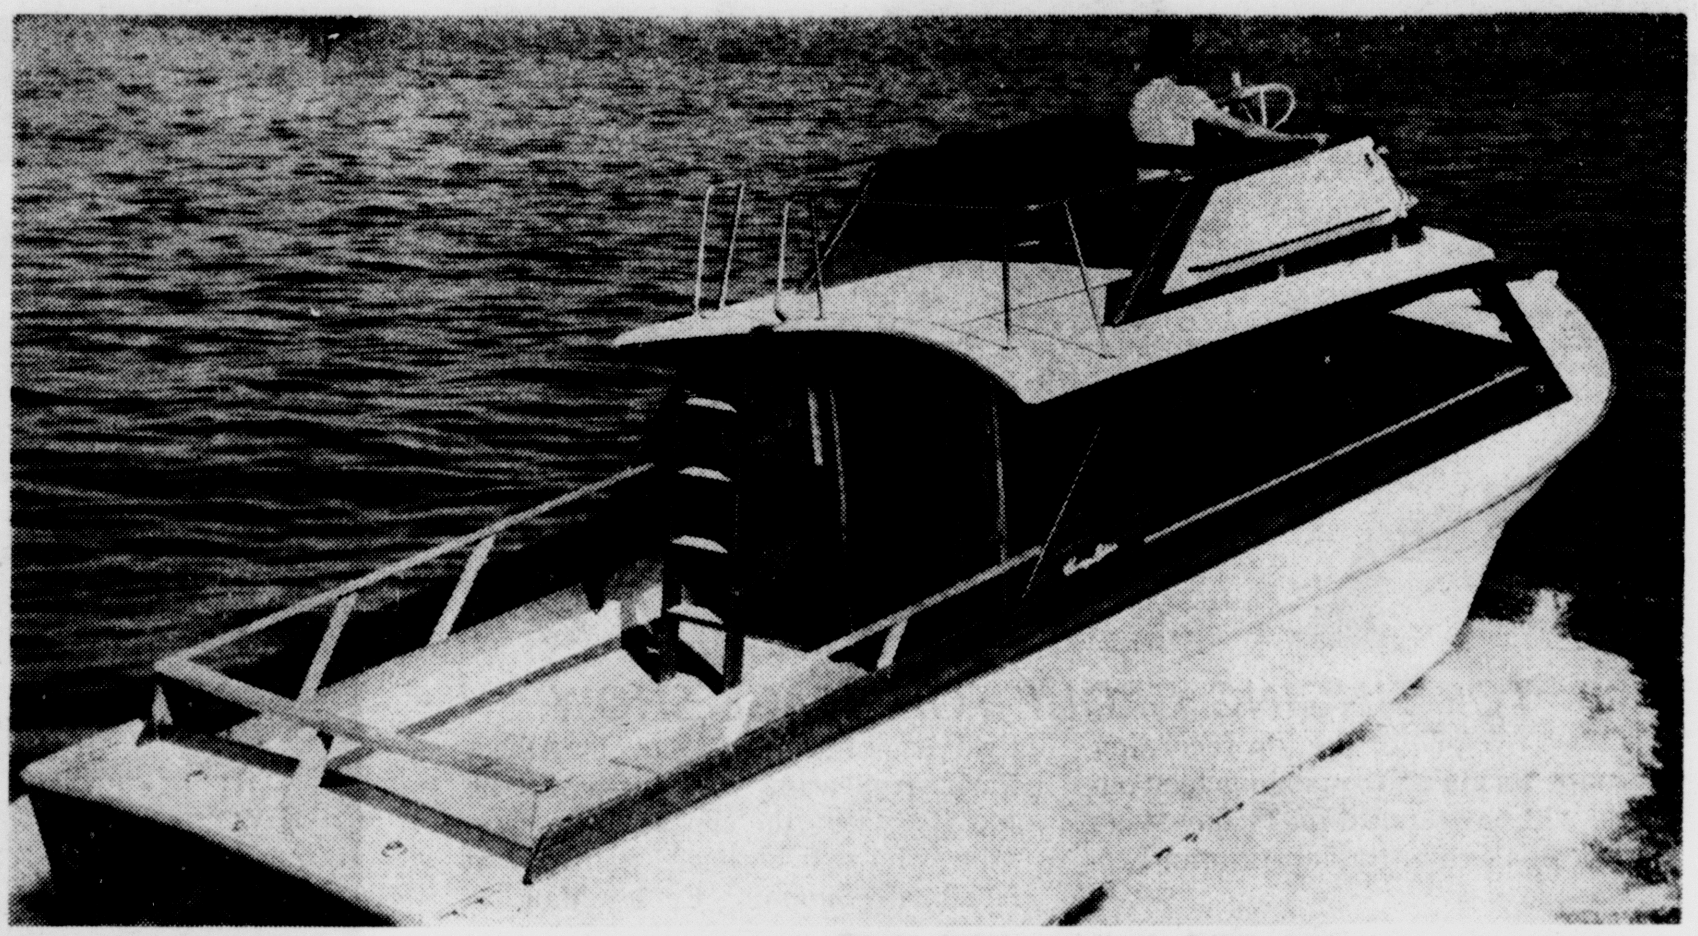
Hole-In-One Prizes Lush

Care to try for a hole-in-one? If you succeed a V8 sports coupe awaits you at the first annual San Rafael Open Golf Tournament, sponsored by the San Rafael Jaycees, and scheduled for Sunday at Peacock Gap Country Club.

The tournament will offer 18-hole medal-play competition with 20 trophies and several merchandise prizes for the winners in low gross, low net, and Calloway division.

In conjunction with the tournament, a putting contest and two hole-in-one contests will be conducted during the day.

A tremendous reduction of menacing sea lamprey in the upper Great Lakes, from 10,129 in 1965 to only 4,300 this year, means that trout fishing prospects are increased.



TO SEA IN A SEDAN

This is the type of boat which will be in the Autumn Festival canal parade scheduled to climax the water activities of the event Saturday at 7 p.m. It's a 32-foot Sea Skiff Sedan, designed for "off shore" cruising and distributed by Seaway Marine Inc., of San Rafael. It comes with either a gasoline or diesel engine.

Jenny 'Curtis' Plane Brought Back

WAUKESHA, Wis. (AP) — After a 53-year absence "Sweetheart" is back on the county fair and airshow circuit.

Sweetheart is a 1912 vintage biplane whose renovation was the project of Waukesha airport manager Dale Crites.

Crites, who learned to fly in 1929 in the famous Curtiss "Jenny," said flying Sweetheart for the first time was "like soloing all over again without any instruction."

He sits completely in the open.

The aircraft was originally purchased in 1912 in San Diego by Milwaukee barnstormer John Kaminski who shipped the machine back to Wisconsin, where he flew it at fairs for $350 plus $25 a flight. The airplane, the second in the state, cost him $5,000.

After 1913 Sweetheart led a ground-bound existence in a blacksmith shop near Madison and in several Milwaukee locations until Crites started rebuilding it.

The Curtiss, probably a model D or E, is powered by a 90 horsepower OX-5 engine which drives a hand-carved wooden propeller. The engine is started by "propping" it by hand.

Crites sits ahead of the water-cooled engine and wears a shoulder yoke which turns the plane when he leans in the appropriate direction.

Most of the wing panels and other parts are from the original airplane. Wheels, wing covering and engine mounts are new.

Crites flew the airplane at a Waukesha airshow recently despite gusty winds and turbulence which gave him more of a ride than he bargained for.

Sweetheart "got into a thermal (vertical warm air current) and moved right up" to 70 feet, according to Crites.

Freedom's Togs Don't Cost Much

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Contrary to popular belief, the days of $15 men's suits are not gone.

Henry Hillson and Co. of Albuquerque was the apparent low bidder recently to supply the New Mexico State Penitentiary with 215 men's suits at $14.39 each.

The suits are given to men released from prison.

Reprieved Trees To Be Relocated

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Work is to begin soon on relocation of 170 live oak trees which had been doomed but received a reprieve.

The trees, located along 31 miles of U.S. 90 near Beaumont, were to be cut down to make way for widening of the highway to four lanes.

The 170 trees will be moved 20 feet north to form the center strip of the new highway.

Castro Has New Meanings For Spanish Words

MIAMI (AP) — Some words have taken on new meanings under Fidel Castro's Cuban Communist regime.

For example, "gusano." That's Spanish for worm, according to dictionaries. In Castro's language, as heard in Miami over Havana radio, it means a non-Communist.

"Gorilo" is Spanish for "gorilla," except that in neo-Cuban it means a non-communist army officer.

A "gorilazo" is a military coup by such officers.

"Imperialistas," in Castro's language, means Americans.

The dictator's opponents have a word for him too—"Caballo"—which means horse.

Parties Shape Politicians, Says Scholar

SANTA BARBARA—American politicians used to shape their political parties; now they're shaped by them.

So says a scholar of the Jacksonian period, Lynn L. Marshall, assistant professor of history at the University of California, Santa Barbara (UCSB), who has just been awarded a Haynes Summer Fellowship to complete his book, "A New Hypothesis on the Development of American Political Parties, 1790-1860."

Marshall notes that by the 1830's there was no longer room on the political stage for such giants of individualism as Jefferson and Hamilton, men whose personalities shaped and gave prestige to the offices they held and "who handed down superbly rational political theories for ratification by the populace at large."

In their place were substituted "faceless, efficient functionaries tuned to the popular will" who served political parties which, in turn, were "specialized, bureaucratized and designed as efficiently as possible to crank out party propaganda and to turn out the vote."

Marshall's study differs from conventional histories on the development of American political parties because he approaches the subject of the Jacksonian and post-Jacksonian periods from the standpoint of bureaucratic organization rather than ideology.

Before the Jacksonian period, a man became a political leader because he was first a social and economic leader in his home locality, according to the UCSB historian. His authority was derived from his general social status rather than directly from his office.

Kids' Paradise: Free Hotdogs, Free Fishin'

Anyone can fish for fish. But when it is a toy which might get hooked at the end of the line, that is where the action is.

The Fish Pond Derby, among the many attractions at Northgate Shopping Center Saturday in connection with the Autumn Festival, is expected to bring the kids under 12 in from miles around.

First there is a free hot dog and soft drink feed at noon, followed by the fishin'.

The large mall pond will be filled with 2,000 toys individually wrapped in waterproof bags and connected to the central pond by string. Children under 12 will be given the opportunity to pull a string for a prize.

Old-Fashioned Weapon Chills Kentucky Blaze

LOUISVILLE (AP) — An old-fashioned method solved the problem for the Louisville Fire Department during a blaze at an apartment.

The department brought along such modern equipment as fog, dry powder, foam and carbon dioxide.

But when firemen entered the building, they found the blaze was caused by an overheated coffeepot.

It was extinguished with a glass of water.

Teacher Said To Be Key To Education

CHICAGO (UPI)—Electronic and mechanical devices will never replace the teacher in the nation's schools, a veteran educator told the 29th annual Reading Conference of the University of Chicago.

"It is a major conviction of my professional lifetime that the teacher is the supremely important factor in the life of the school," said Arthur I. Gates, professor emeritus at Teachers College, Columbia University.

Sacramento River Delta Used To Train For Viet Nam Landings

VALLEJO, Calif. (UPI) — The stutter of machinegun fire and the roar of high speed patrol boats are disrupting the serenity of the Sacramento River delta these days.

It's special war practice. Sailors are training to handle newly-designed, shallow-draft boats for duty on the Mekong Delta and its tributaries in South Viet Nam. The craft will try to cut off movement of Viet Cong arms and supplies down the tricky rivers.

This area was selected for the training because it is similar to the Viet Nam war zone. The normal training time for the four-man crews is eight weeks.

Twenty-two of the armor-plated, 31-foot craft, powered by a 220-horsepower diesel engine, are being assigned to the Mare Island Naval Base here, with 98 being sent to Viet Nam. They are being built under a $3.9 million contract to the United Boat Building Co. of Bellingham, Wash.

The craft, resembling the PT boats of World War II, are armed with a .50-caliber machine gun turret in the bow, a .30-caliber machine gun on the stern, and a grenade launcher.

During training the sailors fire only blanks and confine their shooting to weekdays out of deference to fishermen who frequent the delta's bay and sloughs.

The boats are ideal for shallow river operation because they have a draft of only nine inches when clipping along at high speeds.

The boats can mwke 180-degrees turns within their own length at top speed, and stop in almost as short a distance. But they don't maneuver well at slow speeds.

"It's kind of like steering a bathtub," commented Boatswain's mate 2c Harold L. Hicks of Deadwood, S. D. "She's apt to go any direction when she's traveling slow.

"I guess the hardest thing to learn when you start handling one of these is docking. They just aren't made for operating in close quarters.

Hicks said that as soon as his training hitch is over he expects to man one of the speedy craft in Viet Nam.

U.S. To Aid In Search For Pharoahs

BERKELEY — One of the most persistent beliefs of archaeology — that the real burial chambers of the pharaohs have remained hidden in the pyramids for 4500 years — may be either disproved or supported through use of the most advanced scientific techniques by a team of Egyptian and University of California scientists.

A cooperative U.S.-U.A.R. investigation of this possibility will be made under a recent agreement entered into by the governments of the United States and the United Arab Republic and recently disclosed here by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

The agreement sets in motion a study by an international team of scientists headed by Dr. F. El Bedewi, nuclear physicist of Ein Shams University, Cairo, and a member of the UAR Atomic Energy Commission; Dr. A. Fakhry, archaeologist and well-known authority on the pyramids, UAR Department of Antiquities; and Dr. Luis Alvarez leader of a group of University of California research physicists at Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, Berkeley.

The overall responsibility for the project will be vested in a committee of UAR scientists, scholars, and administrators.

In a few months the scientists will use an ingenious technique to "X ray" the second pyramid of Chephren, at Giza, to determine whether or not undiscovered burial chambers exist in the huge mass of stone.

Cosmic ray particles called muons will be used as "X-rays." Spark Chambers — modern particle detectors — will be placed in the known subterranean chamber near the bottom and the center of the pyramid. The spark chambers will take photos of muons reaching them.

The limestone of the pyramid slows down and stops cosmic ray particles. If there is a hidden void, more particles can get through from that direction to the detectors, thus revealing the possible presence of a chamber.

The basis for the experiperiment is the deception theory which holds that the Egyptian monarchs, wary of grave robbers, and anxious to preserve their bodies for immortality, ingeniously planned their pyramids in such a way as to mislead future generations into believing that the tombs had already been sacked.

The program will cost about $250,000, a portion of which will be in Egyptian pounds for expenditure in the UAR. The project is expected to last about 18 months with work on the instrumentation starting immediately. The funds will be provided jointly by the USAEC and the Smithsonian Institution as well as by the United Arab Republic for the conduct of the work. AEC will contract for the work with the University of California, using both AEC and Smithsonian funds.

Wider Bill Of Rights Foreseen In Future

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — The Bill of Rights will in time be broadened to include the right to health and the right to be different, says Dr. Richard Farson, director of the Western Behavioral Sciences Institute of La Jolla.

Farson told the International Design Conference that other constitutional rights will include the right to intimacy, sexual fulfillment, travel, study, altruism and leisure.

Dream Stuff May Feed Us

LOS ANGELES — Dreams may be nature's way of feeding us during our sleep-enforced fast.

Dr. Arnold J. Mandell, psychiatrist at UCLA's Neuropsychiatric Institute, reports evidence that dreams may trigger mobilization of stored nutrients in the body to nourish the brain and muscles during sleep.

Studies with human subjects have suggested that levels of such hormones as adrenaline and ACTH are increased during dreaming.

It has been suggested by several scientists that there is a basic biological rhythm involving a 90-minute search (for food)-eat-rest cycle. It is masked in man during the day by the complex stimuli of social living but is more manifest at night during the quiet and darkness.

Jaycees Work Hard To Plan Fall Festival

The San Rafael Jaycees have spent countless hours letter writing, telephoning and planning to organize the 1966 Autumn Festival "Marine Holiday."

From a group of less than 25 members, the local organization has grown to become an efficient, active body of more than 50 members in less than 18 months.

Last month (August) the group was named the "outstanding local" among Jaycees in Marin, Sonoma, Mendocino and Lake counties. The title previously was held for several years by Santa Rosa — a local with 180 members.

The purpose of Jaycees is to promote leadership by young men in business and government.

It is through such practical experience as that gained in the Autumn Festival, community attitude survey and junior golf that members learn business administration and committee management.

Internal programs offer leadership training, effective speaking and other programs to develop personality.

Officers of the San Rafael Jaycees for 1966-67 are: Ronald Gonsalves, president, Everett Stites, vice president for internal affairs; Mel Jung, vice president for external affairs; Don Beacock and Tim Korn, external directors; Gary Perry and Rocky Caravelli, internal directors; Allen Vickers, state director; and Ernest Guerrero, secretary.

Directing the Autumn Festival are Mel Jung, Don Beacock, Tim Korn, Gary Bauer, Allen Vickers, Rich Todt and Everett Stites.

Music Night Friday At Fall Festival

Friday night will be music night at the Autumn Festival — the happy, care-free music of America on the move.

It will be provided by a team of 77 youngsters from Oroville who call themselves "Sing Out '66," scheduled to give a rousing concert on Friday at Albert Park and on Saturday at Northgate Shopping Center Mall.

The Sing Out show will feature brilliant-colored costumes and bright songs by a group who like to call themselves the "new generation." No sign-carriers or beard-wearers here, they say.

They will bring much of their own equipemnt and costumes and have written a show which they believe is a dedication to a stronger America.

JUGGLER SUPREME—Ron Henon indicates the skill it takes to be billed as the Juggler Supreme with the James Bros. Circus which will give two performances at Northgate Industrial Park Thursday at 4 a.m. and 8 p.m. Henon has appeared in movies and on television.

Circus To Present Noted Acroabtic Act From Europe

Everyone loves a circus. The popular James Brothers Circus is no exception and will provide all the fun of the sawdust ring at two performances Thursday in connection with the Autumn Festival, sponsored by San Rafael Jaycees.

Performances will be given at 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. at Northgate Industrial Park.

A German acrobatic team, the Winn Troupe, is making its first appearance in America with James Bros. to present one of the most breath-taking and daring aerial acts ever to appear this side of the Atlantic.

The team ride a motorcycle on a strand of cable at a height of 75 feet without nets or any other safety device.

Other artists include Ron Henon, billed as Juggler Supreme. Henon appeared in the movie "Jumbo" and has made many television appearances, including the "Captain Kangaroo" program.

Rossy the Clown promises to have more tricks up his sleeve than can be imagined. He will head a troupe of "clowning clowns."

Proceeds from the circus will go to support the Jaycees' outstanding youth and sports program throughout the year, including the Junior Golf Tournament.

Comeback In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Wells Fargo, the corporation that became a living legend of the old West, is reopening its Dallas doors after a 50-year absence.

The company, which made history with its horse-drawn vehicles carrying mail and freight, now carries other valuables.

Personalized Brands New Western Product

LUSK, Wyo. (UPI) —Step right up, podnuh, and 74-year-old blacksmith John Mudra will fashion you your own personal branding iron, true Western style.

Mudra works for one of Wyoming's newest businesses, The Blacksmith, a branding iron manufacturers.

The idea was sparked in Lusk, Wyo., in March when a visitor asked how he could obtain a branding iron like the dozens that decorated a dining room in a hotel. To everyone's surprise, the display irons were the only ones around.

The business was launched a month later and now has manufactured as many as 200 branding irons a day for use for anything except livestock.

On each is an attached tag explaining the iron is illegal for use on livestock—but handy on den walls, patios or as a fireplace poker.

The branding irons now are being made in eight basic designs—the quarter circle, traverse 7, half flying V, gull, heart, diamond and S. Price is about $8, for the imaginative, and a couple of dollars more—the purchaser can get his branding iron custom made up with the family initials or a special monogram.

There is no assembly line process in this eastern Wyompng business. The irons all are handmade. Mudra is the oldest worker in the shop with more than 56 years of blacksmithing experience. There are three other men, including shop owner Buck Cqlver who has practiced the disappearing trade himself for more than 30 years.

The irons are heated and forged into shape on an anvil by the master craftsmen. They are given their ancient appearance by being alternately heated red hot and then dipped in cold water.

UCLA Latin Center Studies Role Of Nationalist Forces

LOS ANGELES—The role of social, cultural and political forces in national development is the subject of a new program in UCLA's Latin American Center.

Known as the "Project on the Non-Economic Aspects of Development," it offers an interdisciplinary approach to development problems in Latin America.

Directed by Dr. William W. Winnie, Jr., Associate Researcher, the program was initiated late last year under the joint sponsorship of the Pan American Union, the Peace Corps and UCLA.

The first task undertaken in the program, Dr. Winnie reports, was the preparation of a course in which development was approached as a process involving social and cultural as well as economic forces.

The course, prepared in a workshop held at UCLA last month, will be given for the first time as part of UCLA's 1966 summer program in Latin American studies at the Autonomous University of Guadalajara in Mexico.

It will be presented again next fall at the center for Training Regional Economic Development at the University of Ceara in Fortaleza, Brazil. Dr. Winnie will conduct both presentations.

A second goal of the program is to bridge the gap between theoretical formulations and actual implementation of development programs. Participants in the program will work with development agencies and will be able to adjust their teaching and research efforts in light of this experience.

A second workshop will be held early in 1967. It will draw on the experience gained in the first two course presentations and incorporate case-study material assembled during the year.

ROSSY THE CLOWN

Every circus must have its clowns, and the James Brothers Circus to be presented at 4 and 8 p.m. Thursday at Northgate Industrial Park by the San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce is no exception. Leading the troupe is Rossy. The circus will be one of many features of the San Rafael Fall Festival.

Little Left In Nature's Life Scheme

LOS ANGELES—Nature does not seem to have left much out of her genetic make-up. There are even mechanisms which control the rate at which mutations occur in a given species.

Dr. Stephen Zamenhof, UCL Medical School scientist, is studying these mechanisms which control the mutation rate. Associated in the study are Lilo H. Heldenmuth and Dr. Patrice J. Zamenhof.

In general, it is of advantage to the species that the mutation rate is low, Dr. Zamenhof points out, because most mutations are harmful. If it is too low, however, it would be a disadvantage because of the need for plastic adjustment to changes in the environment.

Survival then appears to be related to the ability of the species to establish a constant mutation rate at a "medium low" level.

One mechanism of control of mutation rate demonstrated by the UCLA scientists is repair of DNA molecules, of which genes are composed. Mutations occur when these molecules are damaged.

Each gene has control of its own mutation rate. But occasionally a special gene goes wild, making numerous genetic errors.

Scientists Stress Role Of Butterfly

STANFORD (AP) — Two Stanford University biologists suggest butterflies have probably played a major role in evolution of today's diverse animal and plant life.

Profs. Paul R. Ehrlich and Peter H. Raven, who have studied the eating habits of 432 butterfly groups, explain their theory:

Plants, probably by chance mutation, develop chemical compounds that protect them against certain butterfly larvae.

The chemicals may be poison to the baby butterflies, be merely distasteful, or may otherwise interfere with larvae nutrition.

"Plant-eating insects, however, can evolve in response to physiological obstacles, as shown by man's recent experience with insecticides," the scientists point out in a recent issue of "Evolution," a scientific journal.

Insect mutations can enable new lines to feed on some previously protected plant group. With no competition from non-adapted insects, the mutant strains can eat lots.

In the same way, newly protected plants can multiply and evolve new groups until new predator insects overcome their special chemical advantage.

This continuing one-upmanship war between plants and plant eaters tends to promote evolution of both into many different forms, say the researchers. And the wide variety of earth life has resulted from "the great adaptive radiations of the past."

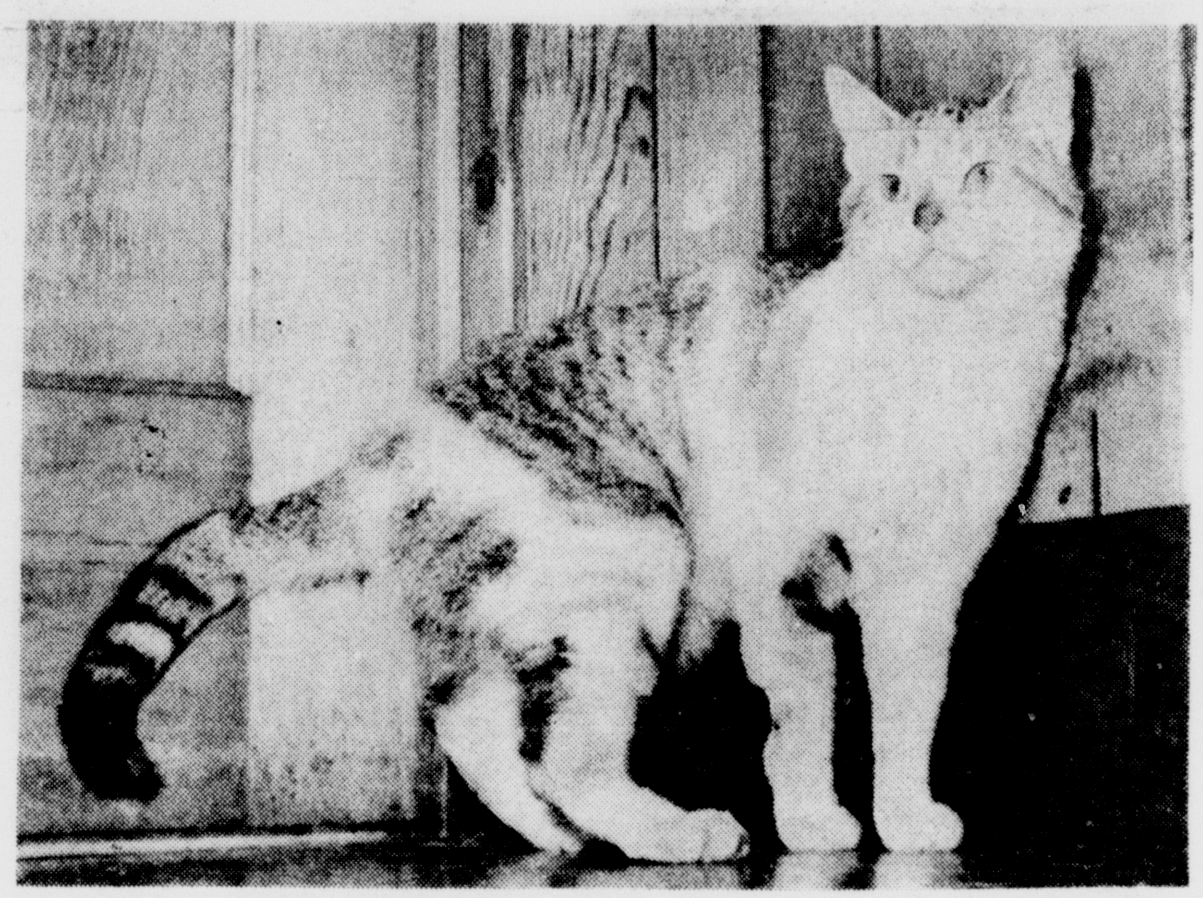
Katz Program For Retarded May Become Permanent Plan

SAN FRANCISCO — An experimental "Program for Independent Living" designed to help the mentally retarded promises to become permanent, according to its founder, Dr. Elias Katz, research psychologist at the University of California Medical Center.

Although most of the persons accepted for the program have been given up as hopelessly dependent upon others, "Independent Living" is built around making them independent through performing relatively simple work tasks — sorting labels, folding notices, newsletters, and so on.

"These epople usually have many social disabilities," says Dr. Katz. "It is not enough to train them to work and earn part or all of their support."



RARE MALE CALICO CAT

Experts place the odds on a male Calico cat being born at somewhere between 1 in 500,000 to 1 in 2 billion so they were naturally interested when Bum, an eight-year-old male Calico showed up at the Skokie Animal Hospital in Chicago for treatment of a wound in his right front leg. Bum, owned by Harry Hanson, Chicago, has been invited to visit the University of Minnesota School of Veterinary Medicine. A geneticist at the school has been searching for a male Calico for years. CORN LIKIN' CAT ON THE COB

Although cats don't generally like vegetables, this one obviously goes big for corn on the cob—even down to getting that last dab of butter from a sticky paw. The cat, named Snoopy, belongs to the family of Associated Press correspondent Bob Cooper of Lexington, Ky. She is identified as half Abyssinian and half "just cat."

Expert Says Smog Control Needed In Entire Air Sheds

SACRAMENTO —Smog control will have to cover entire "air sheds" to give real protection to California people and agriculture, according to Victor P. Osterli, University of California Agricultural Extension Service program leader.

"Air pollution is essentially the result of our industrial progress and urbanization. It comes from concentration of people on limited land space and from our tremendous use of fuels. . . . We have only one principal remaining California air shed without smog damage—the Salinas Valley."

Osterli, addressing the California Board of Agriculture, said farmers could expect smog damage to grow worse before any significant improvements would take place.

Tension Good Human Asset

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI)—Tension is a good tool because it helps a person to meet challenges, reports Mrs. Marquerite L. Duvall, family life specialist at Pennsylvania State University.

However, Mrs. Duvall warns, if life is perpetually difficult and a person is constantly worried and upset, he may break under the strain.

One response to tension may be to ignore the pressures, she points out. Someone under too many tranquilizers doesn't see the problem and may not respond to what are normal demands of the situation.

Mrs. Duvall says the ideal situation is one in which a person becomes tense when he needs extra energy, an extra sharp mind, or to cope with a problem. Then he relaxes once the challenge is over.
